Ice cream, you scream

Intrepid reporters dig into the cold truth about local ice cream

By BRENDA BALIN
bbalin@lakelandmedia.com and JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

It was a chilling subject, but we tackled it. In honor of National Ice Cream Month (July), Antioch reporter Julie Murphy and Lake Villa-Lindenhurst reporter Brenda Balin set out to compare the four local ice cream shops in our area.

At each one, we sampled vanilla and chocolate ice creams, unadorned by any toppings. Undistracted by chocolate sauce, whipped cream or nuts, we evaluated each one for creaminess, sweetness and presence of vanilla or chocolate taste. We also made note of the store's ambiance, and any other special items.

A big factor in the ice cream experience is texture, and a big factor in texture is fat content, so we also made note of the fat content of each ice cream.

Milk fat determines whether the ice cream will be considered low fat. "Low-fat" ice cream has a maximum of 3 grams of total fat per 4-ounce serving.

Those looking for a sweet treat with a lower fat content can find one at Antioch Dairy Queen, at 966 Main St., owned and operated by Kent and Ginger Ipsen. A 4-ounce serving has only 5.6 grams of fat.

As is to be expected, the lower fat content renders a frozen confection that has a thinner feel in the mouth, though smooth and sweet. The vanilla tasted less of true vanilla and more like marshmallow and the chocolate hovers somewhere between a cocoa flavor and milk chocolate.

In addition to the expected frozen favorites: dipped cones, floats, freezes, Mistys, Blizzards, sundaes and the high-end (at about $3) Royal Treats, a limited menu of regular food is available that includes hot dogs and barbecue sandwiches.

The store closes during the winter months (November-February). The hours are from 11 a.m.-10 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 11 a.m.-10:30 p.m. on Friday and from 11 a.m.-10 p.m. on Sunday.

"We'd have to expand our food menu to stay open year around," Kent said. "I race snowmobiles professionally, like the winter X games you see on TV, so this is a really good arrangement for me."

Kent said Oreo Blizzards and the Peanut Buster Parfait are the store's two best selling items.

"I do love soft serve, just a plain cone," he said. "We do sell quite a few cakes, too. My wife does a nice job decorating them."

In 2001, K.C. Dieck opened Main Street Frozen Custard, on Route 83 at the intersection of Route 173, after going to Wisconsin to learn the secrets of "the best" frozen custard.

"Ron Schneider (the owner of Leon's in Milwaukee) was really great and he taught me how to make it. I bought his machines, and I purchase all of my product, dairy,

Church annexation on hold

JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Christian Life Fellowship's public hearing ended when all six Antioch village trustees voted not to take action, but send the matter into committee for further review. No date has been set for the board to bring the proposed annexation of the church's 10 acres on Deep Lake Road across from the Wal-Mart site back into formal discussion.

Trustee Mary Turner "called the question" to end the board's discussion and force a vote on the motion made by Trustee Dorothy Larson to essentially leave the matter open-ended. Trustee Scott Pierce said, "I seconded this (motion) because I feel it's important to take this slowly and let IDNR (Illinois Department of Natural Resources) finish its business."

The IDNR business Pierce referenced was the completion of condemnation hearings of the Spiro Hortis property, just south of the church's property at the intersection of Deep Lake Road and Route 173.

Brad Semel, a wildlife biologist with IDNR, broke the news that the lawsuit was "unfavorable to the State of Illinois, and we had to back out." He said the judge allowed a current appraised value of $6.5 million for commercial property.

In unison, Mayor Taso Maravelas, village attorney Bob Long, senior planner George Sakas and planning, zoning and building director Bob Silhan said they had heard nothing of the judgment.

Death shocks GCHS

By STEVE PETERSON
speterson@lakelandmedia.com

School will start for the 2004-05 term at Grant High School on Aug. 23, but there will be a somber note.

Staff and classmates are trying to cope with the death of one of their own, Elizabeth Willding. Willding, 16, was found dead by her mother at their Ingleside home on July 14. Lake County Sheriff's Department and the Major Crimes Task Force were put in place immediately and within three days, charges were filed against a neighbor.

Adam Christenson, 21, has been charged with first degree murder. He is awaiting an Aug. 3 preliminary hearing at Lake County Circuit Court.

"It was a stunner for the neighborhood. Imagine what the poor mother must be going through," said a resident of Fox Lake Hills, the subdivision next to where the murder occurred. "You get a false sense of security here."

Betty Smouse, spokesperson for PM&L Theater Company in Antioch, where Willding performed since she was a toddler, said the loss is a tragic one.

Elizabeth Willding
1987-2004

"We are all very family-oriented at PM&L. We are one big family. When something happens to one family, it happens to us all," Smouse said.

An expert said people will handle the loss differently.

"Something like this can undermine the safety and security of an area. It shakes people's confidence. It may cause Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, with symptoms including nightmares and flashbacks. It was a horrendous loss, not by natural means but by a brutal murder. Because of the brutal murder, the healing process may be more complicated," said Tom Schriender, interim director for Community Youth Network of Grayslake.

"Nothing like this has ever happened before. You feel awful for the family," said resident Betty Hill.

Two 21-year-olds who just moved from Chicago felt the same way. "She did not get a chance to have her first true love, prom, or experience life," said Cecilia Solis. Now, her mom makes sure all the doors are locked at night.

nuts, chocolate chips, from the same places he buys them. This way I know I have a wonderful product," she said.

Dieck said she has her vanilla shipped in from New Jersey, and uses it to flavor the custard mix made famous at Leon's.

The custard's fat content is 12 grams per 4-ounce serving. The texture is creamy. The vanilla flavor is moderately strong, and the chocolate has a rich milk chocolate taste.

Dieck said her custard has such a rich taste because of the process used to make it.

"It's very dense," she said. "We lose 20 percent of the volume when we mix our custard. Other places actually add volume when they make their mix."

Main Street is known for its creative flavors of the day, over 60 in all. Twice a month, mystery flavors are concocted. Popular flavors include cake batter, butter pecan (the only set flavor made twice monthly), peanut butter cup and chocolate toffee crunch, among others.

Calendars for the year that schedule each day's flavor are available in limited quantities and long gone by summer.

Open all year, the shop serves a variety of deli sandwiches, Paninis, muffalettas as well as chili and soup. Coffee is the other mainstay, with early morning hours to support those sales: Monday through Friday, 6 a.m.-10 p.m.; Saturday, from 7 a.m.-10 p.m.; and Sunday from 8 a.m.-10 p.m.

Ambiance is everything at The Twisted Cow, at 2112 E. Grand Ave. (Linden Plaza) in Lindenhurst. The "tin" ceiling, the hex-tiled floor, the paneled walls, comfortable booths and the curve-backed chairs hearken back to the heyday of the traditional ice cream parlor. The major conversation piece of the store is a table supported by a cow.

Pat Gallagher opened the store last year, after the summer heat was over. Nevertheless, he had a successful winter, hosting birthday parties and other special occasions in the ample space.

Vanilla ice cream, with only 7 grams of fat per 4-ounce serving, was creamy, but with a slight grain to it. It was moderately sweet, with a delicate vanilla taste.

The chocolate, with a slightly bittersweet taste was grainier, with a mere 2 grams per 4-ounce serving making it a true "low-fat" ice cream.

"We don't go through as much chocolate as vanilla," Gallagher said. "The lower fat content helps the ice cream stay fresh, longer, especially in the summer."

Gallagher said chocolate accounted for 25 percent of his sales. The store also offers low fat frozen yoghurt.

Cones range in price from $1.39-2.09, with the larger size waffle cones costing $2.79. Various toppings and dips are available, including the unusual cherry, blue raspberry and grape.

The store is open seven days a week, 11:30 a.m.-10 p.m. all summer, closing at 9 p.m. Sunday-Thursday during the winter.

The only hard-packed ice cream we sampled was at the Baskin-Robbins at 442 Orchard St. in Antioch.

Here, fat content told the story.

With a whopping 16 grams of fat per 4-ounce serving for vanilla, and 14 grams for chocolate, the taste difference was apparent.

The high fat content gave the ice cream a very creamy texture. The Baskin-Robbins formula for vanilla includes real vanilla and eggs, even in the regular version (more eggs in the French vanilla version), making it the best-tasting vanilla we sampled.

The chocolate (plain chocolate) was dark, and had more of a cocoa flavor than a milk chocolate flavor, but had no trace of bitterness.

Prices for cones range from a "kids' scoop" at $1.27 to a double scoop at $2.59. Waffle cones are 59 cents extra.

As at all "31 flavors" stores, the flavors, from a pool of over 200, are rotated regularly. Variations include shakes, sundaes, "blasts" (mix-ins) and custom cakes.

Larry Mondie has operated the store for 15 years, and brought a Duncan Donuts counter into the store eight years ago.

"This store won Baskin-Robbins President's Award for excellence in a multi-brand store," Mondie said.

Ambiance is not the selling point here, with a few tiny tables, and a small bench outside the store. The emphasis is on take-away.

The store is open from 5 a.m.-10 p.m. weekdays, and 6 a.m.-10 p.m. weekends.

PM&L season ends with a laugh

New season promises naughty, nice

PM&L Theatre is closing out its 43rd season with the musical comedy "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." The production will run weekends through Aug. 1.

While this promises to end the season with a laugh, theater company officials are promising a "season of naughty and nice surprises" when the 44th season opens with "Moon Over Buffalo" in September.

Season passes are on sale for $65 for adults and $55 for seniors and students. In addition to

"Moon Over Buffalo," the six-show season will include an updated version of "The Ugly Duckling" called "Honk!" as well as "Macbeth," "Mornings at Seven," "Sweeney Todd" and "The Nerd."

Passes can be ordered by mailing name, address, phone number along with the number of adult passes and the number of student/senior passes, and payment of check or Visa or Mastercard information to PM&L Theatre, PO Box 23, Antioch, IL 60002. Actual passes will not be mailed until early September, and cancelled check or charge statement will serve as confirmation until that time.

Chicken barbecue, auction tradition worth tasting

jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Years of experience will surely make the combined annual Antioch Lions Club chicken barbecue (the 46th) and Antioch Rescue Squad auction (the 30th) a day of good food, good fun and good deals for all who attend.

The event will be held on Aug. 1 at Williams Park located behind the Antioch Public Library and will run from 11 a.m. until all auction items are gone.

A barbecue chicken dinner can be carried out or enjoyed in the park. "When the event first started the Lions Club was in charge of both the auction and the barbecue," said Antioch Rescue Squad Chief Wayne Sobczak. "We took over the auction years later as all the proceeds went to us anyway."

The auction preview will be held at 11 a.m. The live auction will begin at 1 p.m.

This year there will be no silent auction.

Proceeds from the food sales go to the Antioch Lions Club to support the community projects and programs it supports, while the money raised in the auction is used for the rescue squads' operating expenses. Typically, about 3,000 people are served chicken and nearly $50,000 will be raised for the rescue squad.

Though lots of good stuff has already been donated, it's not too late to make a donation.

Sobczak said many nice antique furniture pieces have been collected, most from the late 1800s, as well as a "ton" of gift certificates.

He said Haling's donated a Johnson outboard motor, the Pedersen family and Pedersen GMC is donating a prize hog from the Lake County Fair, as is Strang Funeral Home. Thelen Sand and Gravel is donating a prize steer. Antioch Flooring is donating $500 of flooring and BJ's Menswear is donating a sport coat.

Tickets have been donated for PM&L's upcoming season, and First National Bank-Employee Owned donated some Bears tickets. Sports related memorabilia includes a Brian Urlacher signed helmet donated by Double Eagle, and there is a baseball signed by Hall of Fame Cubs pitcher Ferguson Jenkins.

Laurie Stahl donated a porch swing/glider and Antioch Schwinn donated one of two Schwinn bicycles.

Other goods include a new gas barbecue, lawn tools, power yard equipment, fishing gear donated by Smith's Resort, new curio cabinets, several quilt keepers and neon beer signs donated by Sand Bar.

All in all, several hundred items will be auctioned off to the highest bidders. Some of these items can be viewed at either the State Bank of The Lakes or the First National Bank-Employee Owned.

Candace Olsen of the Antioch Parks and Recreation Department said swimming at the community pool is free on that day, and there will be children's games, complete with prizes, that begin at 1 p.m.

"I can't list all of the things we'll be auctioning off as this is the biggest week for donations to come in," Sobczak said. "We've worked at getting better quality new items and better quality antiques, and I think this will be a really good auction."

Those wishing to make a last-minute donation should call the Antioch Rescue Squad 847-395-0143, Steve Smouse 847-395-4017, Village Hall 847-395-1000, the Township Hall 847-395-3378 or Sobczak 847-395-1010.

Art show benefits ShareFest

jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Artist Diane Powers, owner of Framesake Art, is having a solo art show at SuzAnne's Art and Frame Shop on Friday, July 30 at 6 p.m. to benefit ShareFest, a group of four churches sharing responsibility and undertaking projects that help the community.

She said, "Such a large percentage of the population doesn't realize what these churches do. Here these four churches are working together to raise money for this school in the true spirit of God."

The Sharefest philosophy is "Lake County Churches changing our community one project at a time."

A ribbon cutting ceremony will be held for its first big project at Grass Lake School in August, though no official date has been set. The group rehabilitated an older building at the front of the campus to increase classroom space, offer space for early childhood learning purposes and house local student functions such as scouting and 4-H.

This is the second art show

Powers has held to benefit ShareFest, both with the support of SuzAnne Grube-Eames, owner of the frame shop. Grube-Eames said it was a natural fit.

"It's my calling," she said. "It's really a good thing for the kids and the community. Whether it's kids, seniors or pets, I'm there to help out."

There will be a wine tasting, with wine provided by Armanetti's at 6 p.m. Something Sweet, located next door to SuzAnne's, will supply sweet treats.

Donations will be taken at the door. Additionally, a portion of the proceeds of Powers prints will benefit ShareFest. Powers uses a renaissance technique to create her works.

"A painting is only as good as the drawing underneath," she said. "After the drawing, I add the lights and darks and then glaze in the colors."

Powers said she raised nearly $1,000 at the last show, and hopes to do as well or better with this show.

SuzAnne's is located on Main Street on the east side of the road, just south of Orchard. The reception runs through 9 p.m.

Tiffany Farms/AUGS connection angers residents, calls for meetings

JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Though the houses on Cameron Drive are new, and an agreement was signed allowing for an emergency drive at the south end of the road instead of a pedestrian walkway in 2001, residents want the Village of Antioch and Community Consolidated District 34 to revisit and reconsider its decisions.

Tiffany Farms residents spoke both at the regular board meeting of the village and the following night at the District 34 meeting to express concern that what has been referred to as an emergency drive is effectively going to be a busy thoroughfare.

Torrie Sturgen, who lives on Cameron Drive, agreed to be the liaison to let residents know when District 34 calls a special meeting for Tiffany Farms residents. Additionally, the village of Antioch has promised to set a date for a Committee of the Whole meeting to discuss the matter.

At the District 34 meeting, Sturgen spoke on behalf of all Tiffany Farms residents.

"We the residents of Tiffany Farms subdivision are petitioning the Village of Antioch and the District 34 school board to reverse their decisions to create a two-lane open roadway to the school and divert school traffic, including school buses, through the neighborhood of Tiffany Farms," she said.

Sturgen asked that access be limited and restricted with the use of cattle gates and Knox Box type locks that would allow emergency vehicles

'We the residents of Tiffany Farms subdivision are petitioning the...decisions to create a two-lane open roadway...through the neighborhood of Tiffany Farms' and for controlled evacuation of the school. She said these items would provide safe passage for children walking to school and at play, but would not render the roadway a high-speed throughway.

She said, "This is not a Band-Aid for Highway."

After the meeting, Sturgen said it had been her understanding that Mayor Taso Maravelas said he would intervene on behalf of Tiffany Farms residents to have the contract nullified.

Village attorney Bob Long said, "This is a very emotional issue, and sometimes people hear what they need to hear. The mayor doesn't have the power to do that. I expect he said he would spearhead efforts to have the contract redone."

Long said the roadway is part of the recorded plat, and as part of public record would likely hold up in court.

Meeting minutes of Nov. 5, 2001 said the plat was approved May 2001 with "an emergency lane at the south end of Cameron Drive, instead of a pedestrian walkway as shown on the approved preliminary PUD (planned unit development) Plan (ordinance 96-7-27). Additionally the minutes reflect that discussions were held since May 2001 with District 34, Westfield Homes and "village administration," and "all three parties have arrived at an agreement."

PM&L loses talented actress

Though she wasn't officially one of Antioch's own, Liz Willding was certainly a member of the PM&L Theatre family and will be missed in our town.

Tom Hausman, president of PM&L, said, "It was a real blow to all of us. Liz was a person with a great deal of talent and grace who was unfortunately taken too soon. I directed her this spring in 'Babes in Arms' and she was a leader of the pack in terms of energy."

Antioch will be well represented at the Lake County Fair Pageant with at least two young ladies entered in each of the three age categories.

Little Miss Antioch 2004 Amanda England will represent our town along with first runner up Maria Bilborrow, and last year's Little Miss Sinclair Guntharp. This year's Junior Miss Madison Erway will have the company of last year's Junior Miss Jaimy Tindall.

In the Miss category, this year's winner Holly Ferlic will represent Antioch along with Jenny Blake, the 2002 winner.

Good luck to all.

ON HOLD

Long asked when the judge made his ruling. Semel said three weeks ago. Later, Bob Silhan said he had heard on Thursday, July 15, that IDNR would be able to purchase a portion of the property and was in negotiation.

Semel said the IDNR was still hoping to purchase the most sensitive wetland areas of the property that are part of Red Wing Slough.

Further, Semel said he had no objection to the church, per se, but feared the property could be sold and combined with the Hortis property for big-box development.

In May, when rumors surfaced that developers were trying to work a deal for Target to come to that location, village officials attempted to allay those concerns.

At the time, to the allegation that Mayor Taso Maravelas would offer strong support of such a development, the mayor said, "I have talked to no one. There is no box store in my radar screen. I do everything upfront."

Silhan said he thought the property would be problematic for a big box developer.

"I think there are only 14-15 acres that would be buildable by the time buffers and easements are in place," he said. "I don't believe that is enough space for a big box, and there is no place for a driveway."

Speculation is that if the church were to sell its 10 acres and that acreage was combined with the buildable portion of the Hortis property, the parcel would be large enough for commercial development.

Though annexations of property zoned RE-1 (rural estate) can come before the village board without first going to the combined planning and zoning board, Turner, the planning and zoning committee chair, was upset at the one-week notice she was given when village staff reported having been in discussions with the church about a possible annexation since May.

"I know you can bypass the planning and zoning board, but I'm surprised you bypassed the planning and zoning committee," Turner said. "The first we heard of it was last Monday. In the future, I think we should be notified about these types of discussions."

Trustee Barbara Porch, who questioned when staff entered into conversations said it had been her understanding that the board had agreed not to discuss annexations until 2005. Sakas said his understanding was that that applied to residential.

Maravelas asked if the church would agree not to sell the property for 20 years. Pastor Jeff Brussaly said he couldn't make such a promise. Robert Mastrodonato, a member of the congregation, said it would have to go before the church board and Brussaly wasn't authorized to make such a decision or commitment.

The 30-acre Hortis property is located within the village of Antioch. It was annexed in 1989. Its current zoning is RE-1. It would have to be rezoned before commercial development could be built there.

Health Fair helps kids in need

Kids First Health Fair will be held on Aug. 4 at the East Middle School, 201 N. Burtick, Waukegan, from 9 a.m.-7 p.m. for low income children living within Lake County.

Children will receive free physicals, immunizations, lead tests and dental exams, as well as free school supplies, backpacks and books. Parents will have the opportunity to meet with social service agency personnel who may be able to help them obtain needed services.

The fair is sponsored by the Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center, Rosalind Franklin University of Medicine and Science and the National Council for Jewish Women/Chicago North Shore section.

For more information, call Sharon Doney at 847-377-8103.

Dance team hosts camp

The Antioch Community High School dance team is hosting a one-day camp for children between 5-13 years old on July 24 and Aug. 21 from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. The cost of registration is $20 for one session or $35 for both.

To register, or for more information, call Carissa Parker at 847-838-5494.

AUGS can start on 2005 Caudill reading list

Students at Antioch Upper Grade School will have an opportunity to vote for their favorite book off of the 2005 Caudill reading list in February 2005, and can start reading the list over the summer. The books on the list, selected by fourth- through eighth-grade students throughout the state, have been named "most outstanding" of titles published in the last five years.

The list is as follows: "Ashes of Roses" by Mary Jane Auch, "Stand Tall" by Joan Bauer, "Runt" by Marion Dane Bauer, "Ruby Holler" by Sharon Creech, "Under the Same Sky" by Cynthia DeFelice, "The Shrouding Woman" by Loretta Ellsworth, "Overboard" by Elizabeth Fama, "Phineas Gage: A Grievous but True Story about Brain Science" by John Fleischman; "Pictures of Hollis Woods" by Patricia Reilly Giff, "Hoot" by Carl Hiaasen, "Kite Rider" by Geraldine McCaughrean, "When My Name Was Keoko" by Linda Sue Park, "Trouble Don't Last" by Shelly Pearsall, "Straw into Gold" by Gary Schmidt, "Doing Time Online" by Jan Siebold, "Surviving the Applewhites" by Stephanie Tolan, "Heir Apparent" by Vivian Vande Velde, "Surviving Hitler" by Andrea Warren and "Memory Boy" by Will Weaver.

Faith Evangelical accepts applications

Faith Evangelical Lutheran School is accepting applications for the 2004-05 school year for preschool through eighth-grade students.

The school offers a Christian education. Amenities of the program include high academic standards, low student-teacher ratio, before- and after-school programs, an extended learning program and league sports.

For more information, call 847-395-0754 or visit www.faihtantioch.org. The church and school are located at 1275 Main St.

Emmons announces 2004-05 registration

Emmons School District 33 will hold registration on two dates over the summer.

Registration will be held on both July 29 and Aug. 3 from 2-8 p.m.

For more information, call the school at 847-395-1105.

Emmons offers sports physicals

Incoming sixth-, seventh- and eighth-graders to Emmons School for the 2004-05 school year who are interested in participating in sports can have a sports physical done Aug. 5 for $20.

The district has arranged for a family practice physician to be at the school on that Thursday from 4-6 p.m. to give athletes their physicals.

Call the school at 847-395-1105 to have a student's name placed on the list.

DUI

Joel B. Ullmer, 36, of 5745 Addison St., Chicago, was arrested for DUI on July 13 at 10:30 p.m. at the intersection of route 173 and the railroad crossing.

Police were dispatched to the area for a possible DUI and saw the vehicle in question stopped 20 feet west of the crossing with the lights on though the engine was not running.

Ullmer told police he did not have his driver's license with him. The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage.

When asked if he had been drinking he reportedly said "you know what the deal is" and "I'm drunk." Ullmer refused to perform field sobriety testing.

A check through LEADS/SOS came back with information that Ullmer's driver's license had been suspended. He was arrested and issued citations for improper stopping/parking on a roadway and DUI. He refused chemical testing.

Ullmer was issued an additional citation for driving while suspended. He was unable to post bail.

Warren W. Cassier, Jr., 41, of 2720 Central Park Ave., Evanston, was arrested for DUI on July 16 at 9:52 p.m. on Route 173 west of Tiffany.

Police responded to the area for a possible DUI, found the vehicle in question and positioned the squad car behind it. Cassier was stopped after he was seen crossing the fog line.

The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage and Cassier reportedly admitted to drinking. He refused to perform field sobriety testing.

During inventory for tow, one empty beer bottle and two full ones were found. Cassier was arrested and issued citations for improper lane usage and DUI.

Cassier refused chemical testing and was issued an additional citation for illegal transportation of alcohol by driver. He was released on $100 and his driver's license pending his Aug. 10 court date.

Revoked driver's license

Mark J. Rembert, 24, of 267 Hickory Lane, was arrested for driving while revoked on July 20 at 2:41 a.m. on Cedarwood Drive at Hickory Lane.

He was stopped for a defective plate light. A check of his identifiers revealed that his driver's license was revoked.

Rambert was arrested and issued citations for driving while revoked and a defective plate light. He was released on personal recognizance pending his Aug. 25 court date.

SHOCK

spokesman Sgt. Chris Thompson said that while this may shock the community, the murder should be considered an isolated incident.

"It is shocking for the whole community, but there is no reason to believe there is a murder on the loose," Thompson said.

Lake County Coroner Jim Wipper said an autopsy revealed Willding was stabbed 40 separate times.

"She was stabbed in the neck, face, both arms, chest and back," Wipper said.

There was no sexual assault, the autopsy showed. The exact murder weapon was not found, authorities said. The time of death was about 6 p.m. July 14.

At a memorial service held outside Grant High School, Willding was remembered for her many interests. A poster depicted Willding's volleyball, water polo, theater and chorus involvement. She was also a National Honor Society member and student council leader. Willding's parents were present, in the middle of a group of dozens of students, parents and staff. Willding would have been a senior this fall, graduating in the spring. Willding was a part of PM&L Theater shows in Antioch since age 3. The family moved to Ingleside from Antioch in 1998.

Willding, 16, is survived by her mother, Geryl Glerum (Scott Pregent) Willding of Ingleside, her father, Dr. R. Stephen (Linda) Willding of Lindenhurst, her sisters, Courtney A. and Stephanie D. Willding of Ingleside, her maternal grandmother, Lorna M. Willding of Port Richie, Fla., and several aunts, cousins and uncles. Visitation was July 20 at Strang Funeral Home of Antioch. Memorials may be made to PM&L Theater. She was proceeded in death by her paternal grandfather, Robert L. Willding.

Students brought flowers, lit candles and hugged. Later, as a group, they walked from one parking lot to another inside a roped off area.

St. Peter Catholic Church in Antioch was expecting a capacity crowd for services for Willding.

"We are consoling them, but they are still in a state of shock. It was devastating for the community. People wonder, 'how could anyone do anything like that over such a simple thing. To kill someone over something like that is just terrible,'" said Rev. Ron Anglim. "People are shaking their heads and wondering, 'why.'"

"This is a very close knit high school community. It will be very difficult to start the school year," said GCHS Principal Marilyn Howell. "This will be a definite loss."

"The school is doing a great job under the conditions. It is good to let the kids grieve. The high school is our center for the community. I think it would be good to let a display stand," said Stan Pasiewicz, of Ingleside and a Gavin School Board member. Willding graduated from Gavin South Junior High before attending GCHS.

"It is very devastating," said Fox Lake Mayor Nancy Koske. "The school did an excellent job of supporting the kids and giving them a chance to grieve."

GCHS Superintendent John Benedetti informed the school board of what took place after the teenager was found dead. A crisis management plan was put into effect, with counselors on duty until the morning hours. Board members took a break from their meeting to show the large gathering support Thursday.

Previous area athletes to die before high school graduation include Round Lake football player Mike Lampi, who died after a football game Oct. 11, 2001.

Community provides 75+ care packages

To show appreciation for the extraordinary efforts and dedication of local soldiers in Iraq, State Bank of The Lakes has been working to benefit area troops by collecting funds and sending care packages to soldiers.

The program, dubbed Operation Care Package, was inspired by the work of Dr. Debra Rentner, an Antioch chiropractor who has coordinated numerous efforts to supply our troops with much-appreciated care packages. Working in conjunction with Rentner, the bank has collected items for over 75 packages. Some donations were accompanied by letters to soldiers expressing thanks and support for the work they're doing.

"We ran the program for seven weeks and we were very pleased by its success," said Rosemary Kilimnik, State Bank of The Lakes' Purchasing Officer. "We appreciate the support the program received from our communities and our employees, and we want to thank everyone who has made it possible for us to send a little bit of home to our troops overseas."

Antioch woman charged in burglary leading to Willding's murder

jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Melissa Ann Ward, 20, of Antioch, was charged along with Daniel R. Rowe, 19, Ingleside and Adam D. Christenson, 21, of Ingleside, for allegedly burglarizing the home of the slain Ingleside teen the day prior to her brutal murder.

Sgt. Christopher Thompson, of the Lake County Sheriff's Office, said the burglary happened at about 7 p.m. on Tuesday, July 13.

"They broke into the home and took the talked about X-Box and the digital camera," he said. "They pawned the X-Box at the Game Stop in Round Lake Beach for $65.

They split that money three ways, and that's all they got out of it."

Thompson said investigators had no reason to believe that either Ward or Rowe had any involvement in the following day's homicide.

"It was when Christenson tried to pawn the camera that he realized some of it was missing and went back," he said. "That's when that tragic attack occurred."

Thompson said the sheriff's office is not aware that any weapons were brought to the burglary scene on that Tuesday, though Christenson is charged with first-degree murder and suspected of stabbing Willding about 40 times.

Residential burglary is a class 1 felony.

Indians ready to rumble in playoffs

Antioch graduate John Snelton winds up for a pitch for the Kenosha Indians in a game last week at the College of Lake County—Photo by Steve Young

By JOHN PHELPS
Lakeland Correspondent

With a great summer season behind them, the Kenosha Indians 18-and-under and 16-and-under baseball teams are poised to make a little noise in North American Baseball Federation national tournament action coming up this weekend.

The 18-and-under team is especially hungry after coming within two outs of making it to the title game last summer in St. Louis.

Well, guess what? They'll be in St. Louis once again with a regional title and trip to the national finals in Jackson, Miss. on the line.

"Oh, we remember that (last year) very well," said Tom Spino, second-year coach of the 18-and-under Indians. "Last year, we had a good team. But I think our team this summer is better rounded. We have guys that play a variety of positions. Some games we don't score a lot of runs but our pitching has been key. That will be a big factor in St. Louis."

The 18-and-under team will start the double-elimination tournament on July 22. Should they keep advancing, they will ultimately play in the title game on July 25.

"We're looking forward to it," the coach said. "We will have all 18 players there and are looking to do very well."

The 18-and-under team, which sports a 28-5-1 summer record and owner of a current 10-game win streak, got a good tune-up for the NABF series by posting four victories last weekend. They defeated the Kenosha Kiwanis in a pair of games, 4-0 and 1-0.

In the first game, Warren's Scott Shaw went 2-for-3 to pace the offense. Mundelein's Matt Tye was the winning pitcher, allowing only three hits with three strikeouts in going all seven innings.

"He pitched a great game," Spino said. "He got the hitters to hit into a lot of ground balls and our defense took care of the rest."

In the second win over the Kiwanis, Antioch's John Snelton tossed a no-hitter in the five-inning affair. He fanned four while allowing no walks.

"John's curve and slider were on," Spino said. "That made his fastball that much harder to hit."

On offense, Aaron Rank, who currently leads the team with a .520 batting average, belted an RBI single to score Warren's Dan Spino for the games only run in the third frame.

The Indians then swept a pair of games from the Niles Cardinals, 6-5 and 3-0.

Dan Spino was 3-for-3 with two RBI and three stolen bases to also help lead the offense.

In the second game, Warren's Jake Patrick fired a 4-hitter with three strikeouts to pick up the win on the hill. Patrick has been hot all summer, as he currently sports a .053 ERA and is undefeated at 5-0.

"He's sneaky," Tom Spino said. "He was throwing a slurp, which would get to the plate and dive away from the right-handed hitters."

As for the 16-and-under Indians, they will travel to Millington, Tenn. for the 40-team NABF national series.

Like the 18-and-under, coach Ron Cass' bunch features excellent pitching: Adam Worthington and Brian Bahnke and Grayslake's Sean Kuehl are the local players who help lead the pitching staff.

"We have a few of our pitchers playing in the Illinois State summer tournament this week," said Cass, whose team is 31-6 for the summer. "We hope all of them can make it (to Millington). But more importantly, we're hoping they're all healthy."

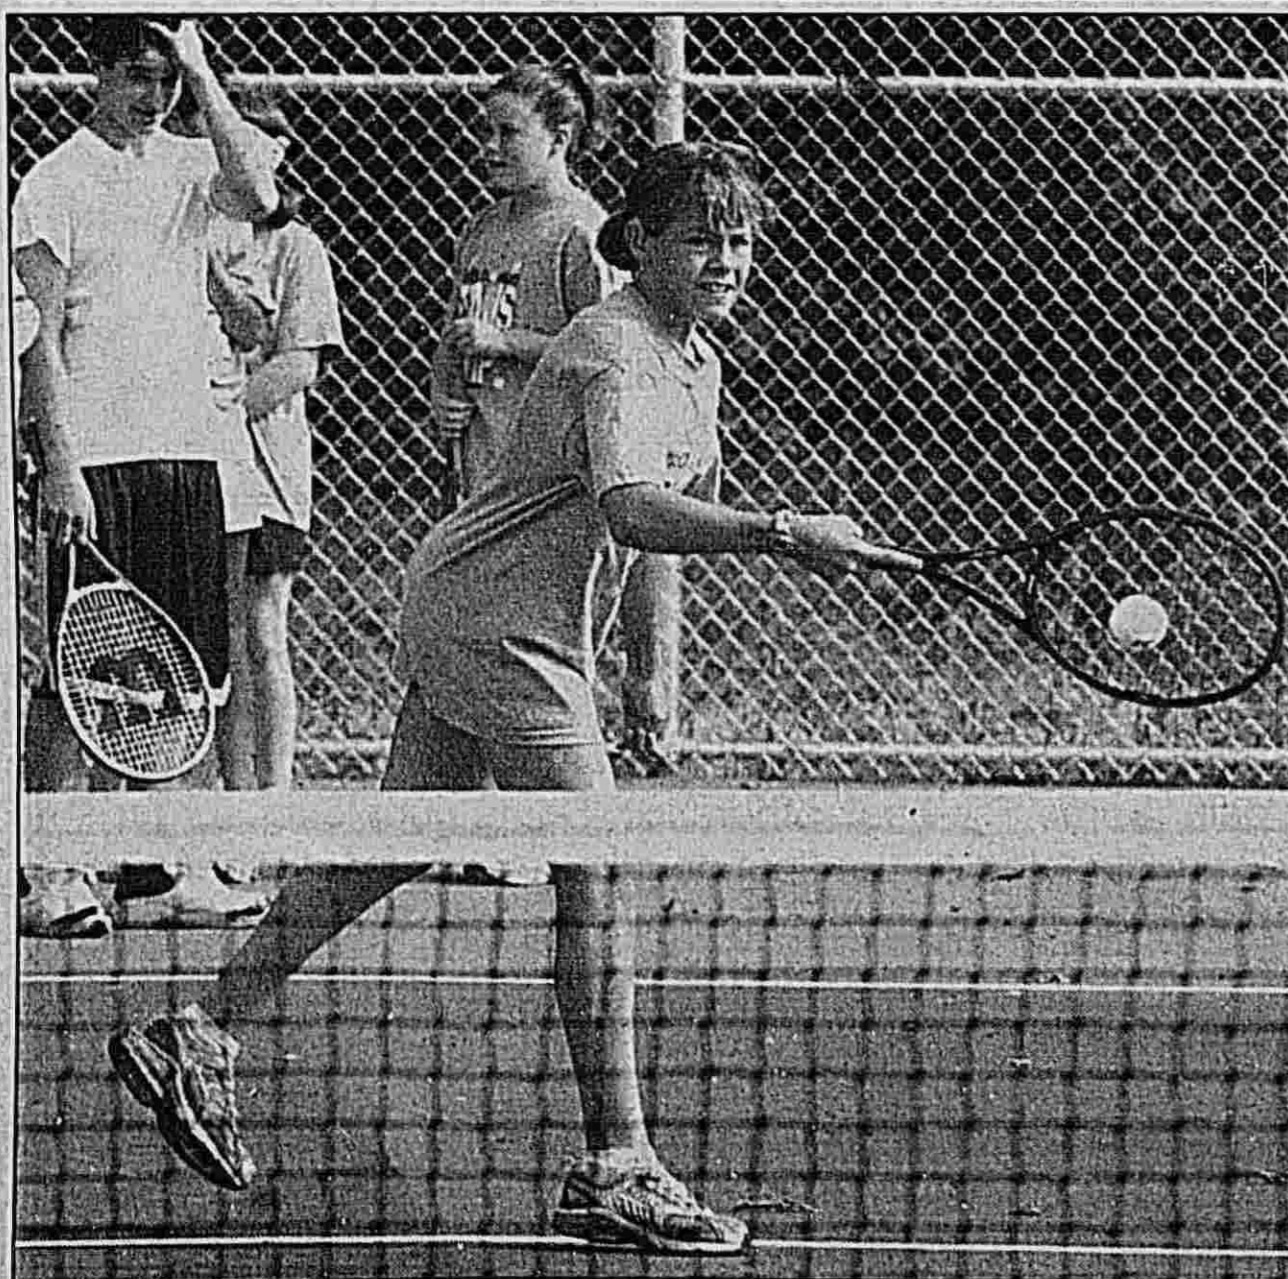

As for the offense, the Indians are averaging right around eight runs per game. Worthington (.400 BA) is one of the team's leaders.

Last weekend, the 16-and-under team took second at the Bullpen tournament in Russiaville, Ind. They lost to eventual host Bullpen team, but then came back to beat them 13-3 in five innings in the last game of the tournament. Unfortunately, the Bullpen had already clinched the title.

Worthington highlighted the offense by smacking two home runs in the tournament.

The 16-and-under will be playing their series July 22-26. Pairings weren't available yet, but Cass likes the team's chances.

"We're hitting the ball well," he said. "Pitching will be a big factor in our success and how far we go in the tournament."

ACHS hold tennis camp at new high school

By ROB BACKUS
rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

Seeing the success of Warren's summer tennis camps in recent years, Antioch Community High School JV tennis coach Carolyn Stanley decided to start one of her own.

"I've been wanting to do one for the last four years," Stanley said.

The only problems were tennis courts, or in Antioch's case, a lack thereof.

But with the new facilities at Lakes Community High School in Lake Villa, a lack of courts shouldn't be a problem any time soon, as the new school has 16 of them.

"Families have actually been coming here on the weekends to play," Stanley said. "That's something that never happened in Antioch."

Stanley's four-year desire to start a tennis camp coincides with her work at Warren's tennis camps, something that has prepared her for the task of leading one of her own.

"I've been in training with (Warren coach and camp coordinator) Greg Cohen," Stanley said. "I wanted to learn what was involved. He's been great. He taught me what happens on the court and behind the scenes."

The camp, which began on July 12 and concludes July 23, has featured over 100 kids, ages 9-18, from Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst and Grayslake. It features three levels: beginner, intermediate and advanced.

"The camp has been great," Stanley said. "The growth in just a week has been amazing. The enthusiasm has been great and the kids are already excited about our programs for next year."

Savannah Bailey, 11, a sixth-grader at St. Peter's, has enjoyed her experience at the camp.

"My aunt taught me how to play, but I wanted to learn more," Bailey said. "It's been a lot of fun, and I'm learning the basics. I definitely want to keep playing tennis."

That, according to Stanley, is the camp's ultimate goal.

"We're trying to hook these kids on the sport," Stanley said.

Stanley has some help at the camps as instructors include former and current ACHS players such as Natalie Stewart, Dina Izenstark, Ashley Jensen and Ryan Reimer.

"It's been great to see the improvement of the kids that haven't ever picked up a racket before," said Jensen, a senior at ACHS. "There's a lot of potential out here; it's great to see. They still have a few years to go before high school, imagine how much more they'll grow before then. It's going to be great for both high school programs."

Give blood at VFW

Appointments are recommended though not mandatory to give blood at the Antioch VFW Sequoia Post 4551 on Saturday, July 24 from 8 a.m.-2 p.m.

Walt Bushie, always active within the post (not to mention being commander of Antioch American Legion Post 748), said walk-ins are welcome but they expect a big turnout as LifeSource is running a special summertime promotion with opportunities to win Cubs skybox tickets for four or a Matt Clement autographed baseball. All donors will receive a LifeSource-Matt Clement poster.

For more information about the drive, requirements to donate blood or to make an appointment, call LifeSource Blood Services at 847-803-7943.

Chamber raffle pays $10,000 to one winner

One person of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry will be $10K richer come July 24 when the winning ticket is pulled during the Taste of Summer.

In addition to the one grand prize, five winners will double their money and walk away with $200. Tickets are $100 each and will be sold through the Taste of Summer, though the number of tickets is limited and may all be sold prior.

Tickets are available at the Chamber office and through merchants who are Chamber members. For more information, call 847-395-2233.

Rotary raffle tickets available

Eight lucky people will win cash prizes with the Antioch Rotary Club's 50-50 summer raffle.

First prize is $5,000 to a single winner. Tickets are $20, and only 1,000 will be sold. The drawing will be held on July 25 at the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry's Taste of Summer.

Tickets are available at the First National Bank-Employee Owned, State Bank of The Lakes and The Advertiser. Questions should be directed to Bob Schneider at 847-395-4444.

Proceeds support the Rotary's philanthropic efforts.

Free home winterizing for seniors

Antioch senior citizens can apply to have their homes winterized, free of charge through Sharefest, an organized volunteer effort of four area churches: Antioch Evangelical Free Church, Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church, Christian Life Fellowship and NorthBridge Church to bring resources together, monetary and otherwise, to benefit communities in northern Lake County.

Work to winterize homes would include installing storm windows, covering windows with plastic, checking smoke detectors, replacing furnace filters as well as cleaning gutters and yards.

Applications are available at the Antioch Senior Center, Antioch Township offices, Open Arms Mission (operating out of St. Peter Church), and the four churches that make up the Sharefest organization.

For more information about Sharefest, call Antioch Evangelical Free Church at 847-395-4117, Chain of Lakes Bible Church at 847-838-0103, Christian Life at 847-395-8572 or NorthBridge Church at 847-838-0800.

Parks offers Six Flags Tickets

The Antioch Department of Parks and Recreation Office is offering Six Flags tickets as a service to residents.

General admission tickets for children 4 years old through adult will be sold for $31.50. Tickets must be paid for with cash. Children under 3 years old are free.

The cost savings is over $10. Additionally, the tickets include a "Next Day Pass" that would cost $10 if purchased at Six Flags.

For more information, call the parks office at 847-395-2160.

Garden club hosts regular meetings through June

Antioch Garden Club meets the first Monday of the month, September through June at 6:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church at 848 Main Street, Antioch.

Visitors and new members are welcome. For more information call (847) 395-1202.

Library hosts first poetry slam

JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Rules of karaoke will apply (no booing, no hissing) when the Antioch Public Library hosts its first poetry slam on Tuesday, Aug. 3 at 7 p.m.

Jane Conners-Geddes, adult programs coordinator, said initially she thought she'd tie the event to the teen creative writing program, but decided to open it up to all ages.

"We hope we'll have a nice turn out for our first poetry slam, so I decided to make it open to all ages," she said.

Conners-Geddes said the number of pieces each person will be allowed to read is dependent on the number of people in attendance. Selections can be self-written, original poetry or pieces authored by other poets.

"This is for enjoyment," she said. "There won't be any critiques, unless someone asks to be critiqued."

According to Conners-Geddes, Dunkin Donuts is donating donuts and the library will brew coffee.

"I've seen poetry readings at the College of Lake County," Conners-Geddes said. "I wasn't sure if it was for part of a class or not, but it looked like fun. I thought we'd give it a try here."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Keep kids first

I am writing in regards to your feature article about Mr. (Earl) Bush and his check off system at Antioch Upper Grade School. I understand that this was a feature article, which only gave his perspective of his check off system; however, there is a very negative side to his system that needs to be made known.

Antioch School District stands on the premise of "Keeping Kids First" and Mr. Bush's program fails at doing this. My son was in his Junior Band program at AUGS this past year. He worked very hard at doing his best, however, his best never allowed him to be in a concert at the school or the Band-A-Rama held at the Antioch High School.

It is a misunderstanding that with Mr. Bush's program that any student that works hard enough can get checked off. The unfortunate part of this is that not all students that work hard are given the same opportunity as other students to be checked off. This was apparent to us this past year. After only two check offs with Mr. Bush our son was told, five weeks prior to the concert, that he was not good enough to be in the concert. He could no longer work hard and try to get checked off.

Before the second concert and Band-A-Rama my wife made several attempts to talk to Mr. Bush about a situation that our son was encountering which was having a great impact on his life. Mr. Bush never had the time to speak to her and did his best to avoid and ignore requests to speak to him. Not only were we moving during this time, but his grandfather, who is very close to our son, was critically ill and in intensive care fighting for his life. For the second time, after only two check offs our son was told he was not good enough to be in the concert.

We later found out that another parent had sent a letter requesting an additional check off for her child because they had moved and was granted this request. Our son found out about this and couldn't understand why his situation was different except that she did not have a very sick grandpa.

Our son had always dreamed of being in Band-A-Rama at the High School to be able to play with his older sister. He had the song checked off that was being played at Band-A-Rama, however, since he didn't have the other songs that were played in the concert he was still not able to play in Band-A-Rama. This was a huge crush to a twelve-year-old child. During such a difficult time he had worked very hard to be able to do this.

Our son is not alone when it comes to children that are not allowed to be in performances. There are a number of students in the same situation as our son.

I do agree that Antioch Upper Grade Bands sound great; however, the bands that you hear are not representative of Antioch Upper Grade Bands, when you are excluding part of the actual band. I can understand if concerts or Band-A-Rama were competitions, but they are not. They are a time for a child to demonstrate to their parents what they have learned and a time for them to be proud of what they have accomplished.

The idea of listening to each child individually is a wonderful idea, however, each child needs to be given the same number of check offs. I am not stating that the standards need to be lowered. I am stating that each child be given the same opportunity. Also, it is important to realize that concerts are not competitions. Having your best students play at competitions is understandable, but using concerts as competitions does not "Keep Kids First."

Church annexation on hold

jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Christian Life Fellowship's public hearing ended when all six Antioch village trustees voted not to take action, but send the matter into committee for further review. No date has been set for the board to bring the proposed annexation of the church's 10 acres on Deep Lake Road across from the Wal-Mart site back into formal discussion.

Trustee Mary Turner "called the question" to end the board's discussion and force a vote on the motion made by Trustee Dorothy Larson to essentially leave the matter open-ended. Trustee Scott Pierce said, "I seconded this (motion) because I feel it's important to take this slowly and let IDNR (Illinois Department of Natural Resources) finish its business."

The IDNR business Pierce referenced was the completion of condemnation hearings of the Spiro Hortis property, just south of the church's property at the intersection of Deep Lake Road and Route 173.

Brad Semel, a wildlife biologist with IDNR, broke the news that the lawsuit was "unfavorable to the State of Illinois, and we had to back out." He said the judge allowed a current appraised value of $6.5 million for commercial property.

In unison, Mayor Taso Maravelas, village attorney Bob Long, senior planner George Sakas and planning, zoning and building director Bob Silhan said they had heard nothing of the judgment.

School will start for the 2004-05 term at Grant High School on Aug. 23, but there will be a somber note.

Staff and classmates are trying to cope with the death of one of their own, Elizabeth Willding. Willding, 16, was found dead by her mother at their Ingleside home on July 14. Lake County Sheriff's Department and the Major Crimes Task Force were put in place immediately and within three days, charges were filed against a neighbor.

Adam Christenson, 21, has been charged with first degree murder. He is awaiting an Aug. 3 preliminary hearing at Lake County Circuit Court.

"It was a stunner for the neighborhood. Imagine what the poor mother must be going through," said a resident of Fox Lake Hills, the subdivision next to where the murder occurred. "You get a false sense of security here."

Betty Smouse, spokesperson for PM&L Theater Company in Antioch, where Willding performed since she was a toddler, said the loss is a tragic one.

"Something like this can undermine the safety and security of an area. It shakes people's confidence. It may cause Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, with symptoms including nightmares and flashbacks. It was a horrendous loss, not by natural means but by a brutal murder. Because of the brutal murder, the healing process may be more complicated," said Tom Schriender, interim director for Community Youth Network of Grayslake.

"Nothing like this has ever happened before. You feel awful for the family," said resident Betty Hill.

Two 21-year-olds who just moved from Chicago felt the same way. "She did not get a chance to have her first true love, prom, or experience life," said Cecilia Solis. Now, her mom makes sure all the doors are locked at night.

ON HOLD

Long asked when the judge made his ruling. Semel said three weeks ago. Later, Bob Silhan said he had heard on Thursday, July 15, that IDNR would be able to purchase a portion of the property and was in negotiation.

Semel said the IDNR was still hoping to purchase the most sensitive wetland areas of the property that are part of Red Wing Slough.

Further, Semel said he had no objection to the church, per se, but feared the property could be sold and combined with the Hortis property for big-box development.

In May, when rumors surfaced that developers were trying to work a deal for Target to come to that location, village officials attempted to allay those concerns.

At the time, to the allegation that Mayor Taso Maravelas would offer strong support of such a development, the mayor said, "I have talked to no one. There is no box store in my radar screen. I do everything upfront."

Silhan said he thought the property would be problematic for a big box developer.

"I think there are only 14-15 acres that would be buildable by the time buffers and easements are in place," he said. "I don't believe that is enough space for a big box, and there is no place for a driveway."

Speculation is that if the church were to sell its 10 acres and that acreage was combined with the buildable portion of the Hortis

property, the parcel would be large enough for commercial development.

Though annexations of property zoned RE-1 (rural estate) can come before the village board without first going to the combined planning and zoning board, Turner, the planning and zoning committee chair, was upset at the one-week notice she was given when village staff reported having been in discussions with the church about a possible annexation since May.

"I know you can bypass the planning and zoning board, but I'm surprised you bypassed the planning and zoning committee," Turner said. "The first we heard of it was last Monday. In the future, I think we should be notified about these types of discussions."

Trustee Barbara Porch, who questioned when staff entered into conversations said it had been her understanding that the board had agreed not to discuss annexations until 2005. Sakas said his understanding was that that applied to residential.

Maravelas asked if the church would agree not to sell the property for 20 years. Pastor Jeff Brussaly said he couldn't make such a promise. Robert Mastrodonato, a member of the congregation, said it would have to go before the church board and Brussaly wasn't authorized to make such a decision or commitment.

The 30-acre Hortis property is located within the village of Antioch. It was annexed in 1989. Its current zoning is RE-1. It would have to be rezoned before commercial development could be built there.

Fire victim seeks damages

Hainesville—A Hainesville business owner is claiming fire-fighters from the Round Lake Area Fire Protection District caused thousands of dollars in unnecessary damage to his property while fighting a fire last week. Tom Sepauls, owner of Tom's Auto Recycling Center and Wrecker, believes firefighters made a mistake when they thought his building, on Route 120, just west of Route 134, was on fire.

Subpoenas coming?

Fox Lake—Almost 300 subpoenas may have to be issued as proponents of the Fox Lake petition to put $4.95 million in village bonds for a water park and hotel on the ballot are being challenged. Meanwhile, village clerk Noel Working insisted he should stay on the electoral board. Proponents were expected to present their case July 21. Proponents of the petitions, signed by more than 600 residents, would like the issue on the Nov. 2 ballot.

Neighbors rest easier with arrest in murder

By STEVE PETERSON
speterson@lakelandmedia.com

Residents viewed reaction in Grant Township to the announcement of charges against a suspect in the death of a Grant Community High School senior with relief.

Adam Christenson, 21, of Ingleside, is accused of first degree murder in the death of Elizabeth "Liz" Willding by the Lake County Sheriff's Department. The announcement of the arrest came three days after Willding was found dead after suffering 40 stab wounds. Christenson allegedly entered the Willding home for the second time in a day to retrieve a cable for a video camera so he could sell it at a local pawn shop. Both the Willding family and Christenson live on Orchard Avenue in Ingleside.

Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re announced the charges. Christenson is held on $3 million bond.

Christenson and Willding did not have any previous relationship. "They were not even acquaintances," said Lake County Sheriff's Department spokesman Sgt. Christopher Thompson.

Detectives focused on Christenson—who was an out of-work pizza delivery driver—after he had apparently made some incriminating statements as an onlooker to the murder investigation at the scene.

Sheriff's officials said Christenson, along with two accomplices, broke into the Willding home earlier that day and stole items, including an X-Box that was sold for $65 to a Round Lake Beach pawn shop later that day.

Melissa Ann Ward, 20, of Antioch and Daniel R. Rowe, 19, of Ingleside, were charged with burglary.

"There is no question that we have the right person in custody," Thompson said. Christenson has a preliminary hearing Aug. 3 in Lake County Circuit Court.

Thompson said the entire Ingleside community should be relieved that a suspect is behind bars.

"The sad thing is that a girl who would have been a big contributor to society someday was taken away from us by someone who is not contributing anything at all," said Grant Township resident Bob Selle.

"It was a hideous thing to do over something as small as a camera," resident Cindy Schmidt said.

"There are a lot of people in the Explorers Post who knew her pretty well," high school student Sam Tiago said.

"It is unbelievable. It scared a lot of parents who have 16-17-year-old girls," resident Hank Bieki said.

"It was a horrible thing to happen," GCHS senior-to-be Eric Horvath said.

"She was the nicest girl. You would never expect it. It makes you sick. I remember when we had French class together, she sat next to me," said Jesse Linczmaier, a 2004 Grant graduate. "She got a better grade than I did."

They agreed that Willding's No. 7 that she wore in volleyball should be retired or recognized. After a vigil, a sign, "We will miss you, Liz" is on the marquee at the high school.

"I feel right now that the man who can help this party today and has any chance of winning in November is me," Hill said. "I am a diehard Republican and if I can get the word out, I know people will vote for me."

Hill finished eighth among candidates in the March Republican primary in Lake County with 292 votes.

County OKs Four Oaks rezoning

By JEFF ZACHARY
jzachary@lakelandmedia.com

Following a motion by Pamela Newton (R-Vernon Hills) and a second by Angelo Kyle (D-Waukegan) the Lake County Board approved the rezoning of 70 acres of land on Old McHenry Road, just north of Route 22 in unincorporated Lake Zurich.

At the request of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank and the LaSalle Bank the land has been rezoned from an agricultural district to a residential-1 district.

The rezoning will allow Four Oaks Development to construct 41 single-family homes on the land which will be in Lake County and not in any municipality.

At the board meeting, Susan Zingle, a Lake County community activist well known for her opposition to peaker power electrical generating plants in Lake County, spoke up against the development, which also has been opposed by the villages of Long Grove and Hawthorn Woods.

"I think it stands to reason that this property zoning is not compatible with the surrounding zoning as evidenced by the ongoing objections by the neighboring villages," Zingle said.

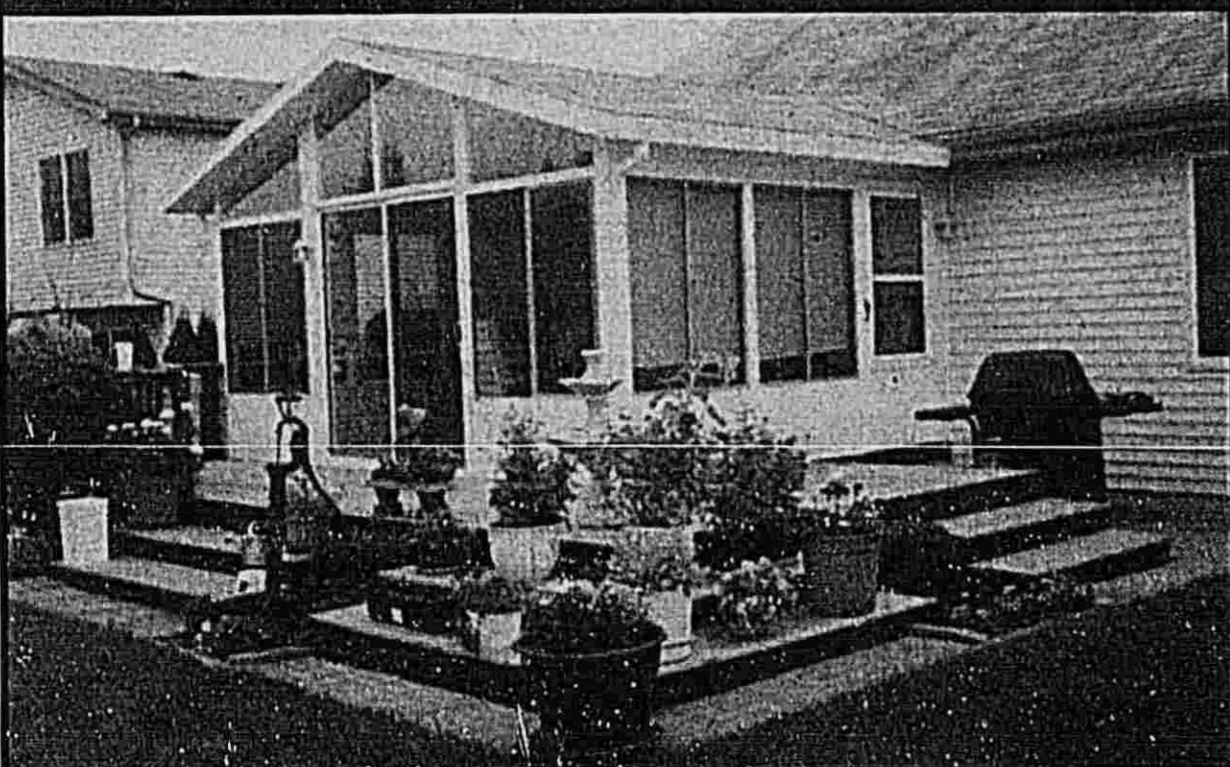

David Lothspeich, the village administrator from Long Grove also said that at least a third of the planned site is wetlands

Unheard of courage from unlikely sources

By BRIAN JANOSCH
brian@lakelandmedia.com

Courage in society today has become synonymous with the country's biggest and bravest. It is a word generally saved for adults who overcome seemingly impossible physical obstacles.

But courage can come in a different form. A much smaller form. Like the more than 20 children who attend "Camp Courage," that have to overcome obstacles far greater than anything physical. But rather emotional obstacles not normally seen by people twice their size.

Camp Courage is run by the Hospice of Northeastern Illinois and is directed solely towards children age 6-12 who have lost a loved one.

Most Americans aren't faced with losing a parent or sibling until well into their adult life, and for children, that loss can be even harder and more confusing.

The Hospice recognized that difficulty for children to find safe outlets for their grief so they started Camp Courage nine years ago. Since then more than 100 children have felt the security and support of not only the counselors, but also their peers.

"They do make connections pretty quickly," Senior Bereavement Counselor Dee Latanzio said. "(On the first day) some of the younger (kids) were encouraging each other to talk about (their loss) and kind of putting their arm around each other."

The camp is constructed at a ratio of two children per counselor. This allows each child to feel a more personal connection to the counselor.

Matt Levenson, 12, of Mundelein attends many different camps each summer through boy scouts and other groups, but there is one big difference with "Camp Courage."

"Everybody is kind and they treat you with more respect than some people do," Levenson said.

Because many children don't know how to deal with a grieving child, often times the grieving child can be left feeling alone and ridiculed, Latanzio said. At Camp Courage, however, peers who know and understand surround the kids.

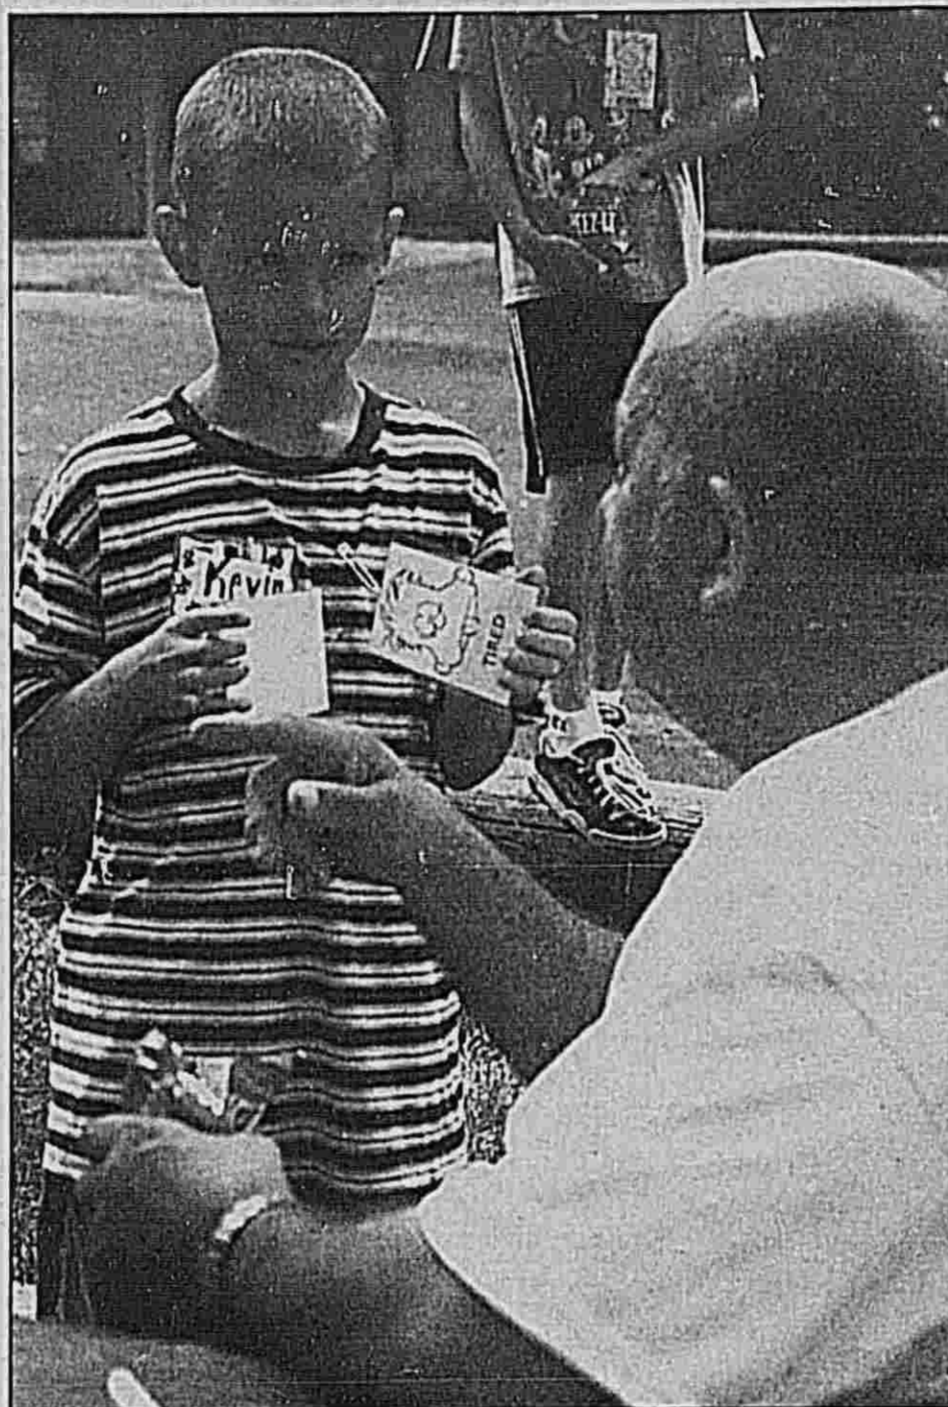

"They are really able to talk about their grief and get that understanding from each other," Latanzio said. "It's really powerful to see the kids and how they nurture each other."

The campers are broken up into groups according to age and type of loss. This allows kids like eight year-old Amanda Nemic of Lake Villa to quickly make friends with another young girl in her group who also lost her grandmother.

"I like camp because you get to talk," she said.

Nemic's counselor Carol Buckley said that when the children talk to their parents, they feel like they are upsetting them because they get sad too. But at the camp, they can talk to people who aren't feeling sad about it.

Perhaps the people who deserve the most credit are the counselors who volunteer their time to help the children overcome their loss. Volunteers like Andy Samborski who has suffered his own loss as his son and father have both passed away.

Andy Samborski, a volunteer counselor for Camp Courage talks with Kevin Braun, 6, who is one of the campers. Camp Courage is a camp to help children who have had loved ones pass away.— Photo by John Dickson

But for a man like Samborski, healing the kids is healing himself. "I come here and can see a six year-old kid with the same grief I have," he said. "When I can see the kids overcoming that same grief, it just helps mine."

Lake County libraries to receive musical settlement in CDs

By BRIAN JANOSCH
brian@lakelandmedia.com

In August of 2000 43 states filed a class action lawsuit against several of the largest record labels and retail stores. The lawsuit claimed that the labels and retailers colluded to keep the prices of CDs artificially high.

It took four years, but finally a settlement is due to come the state's way in the form of $75.7 million dollars worth of CDs.

The music is being donated to schools, government organizations, and libraries. The North Suburban Library System which includes Lake Counties libraries is due to receive more than 13,000 CDs. They will then be distributed throughout the system.

"The library is a place for everyone to share," NSLS Director Sarah Long said. "The courts agreed that (the record companies) have been unfair to the public and have to make up for it by sharing with the community."

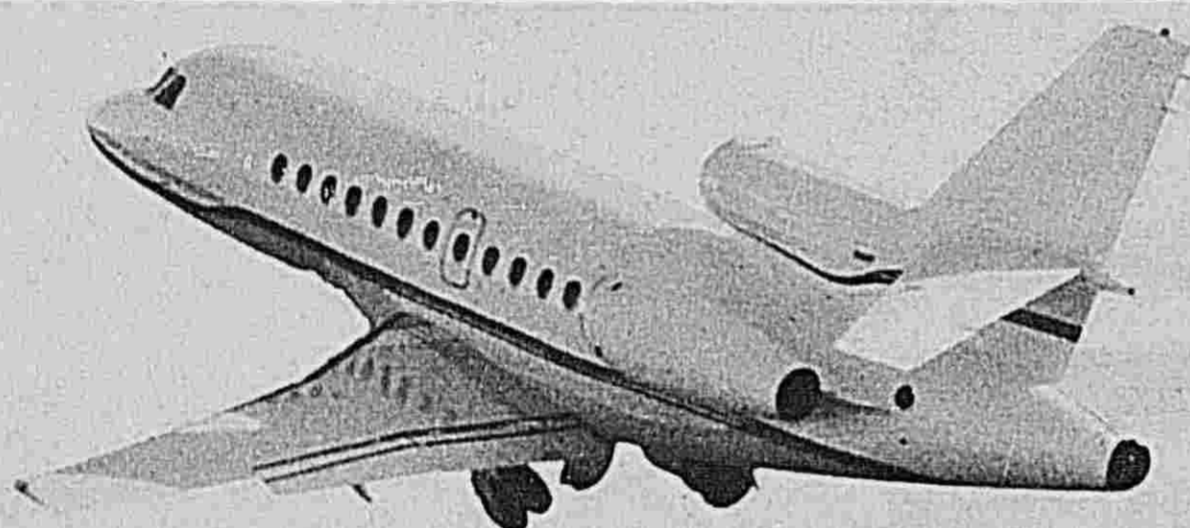

The NSLS is still in the process of deciding exactly how many titles each library will receive, but regardless of how much they receive, the libraries will be pleased to add to their collection.

"It is going to be great because the library budget is tight and we would never increase the CD budget by that percent, so it will make more available," said Roberta Thomas, Administrative Librarian of the Grayslake Area Public Library.

According to Thomas, CD rentals have become increasingly popular lately. Over the past year, Grayslake saw a 19.5 percent increase in the checkout of CDs. That totaled out to roughly 3,700 more rentals, so any addition will be well received.

Roughly 60 percent of the new CDs will be popular music from the 1950's to the present. And the remaining 40 percent will be comprised of classical, jazz, holiday and other types of music.

"One big mission for a library is culture," Long said. "In many communities, the library is the only accessible cultural institution that is there for everyone."

Lake County Board honors Kyle as president of National Association of Counties

By JEFF ZACHARY
jzachary@lakelandmedia.com

If one is to believe all of the kind words spoken about Angelo Kyle (D-Waukegan) at the Lake County Board meeting—the National Association of Counties (NACo) couldn't ask for a better president.

President-elect Kyle, who is the Lake County Board incumbent in District 12, was sworn in at a conference in Phoenix on July 20.

Several board members including Lake County Chair Suzi Schmidt (R-Lake Villa) traveled to the conference to support Kyle.

According to information on its Web site—NACo was created in 1935 when county officials across the country said they wanted to have a stronger voice in the nation's capital. Nearly seven decades later, NACo continues to ensure that the nation's 3,066 counties have a voice in the White House and within Congress. NACo's membership totals more than 2,000 counties, representing over 80 percent of the nation's population.

After receiving an ovation from the other board members, Kyle said, "We thank God for putting us in this position and I want to thank the Chairperson Suzi Schmidt for her unwavering support and the authority and permission to be able to work on this."

After thanking other board members and staff, Kyle said, "Our (NACo) mission includes home ownership opportunities and giving every American an opportunity to own their own home. Our other initiative is access to health care. When you really look at it—it has been County government that has been providing medical health care to uninsured America for as long as we can remember. County governments through our health departments and through our county hospitals have been the entity providing health and medical care for uninsured America. So when you look at it—County government should be at the table and we might even be able to teach the federal government how to provide health care," Kyle said.

Some of the board members with kind words about Kyle included Pamela Newton (R-Vernon Hills), who said that Kyle will now have direct access to the White House.

"This is an incredible honor for the state of Illinois...and Angelo you have stepped forward to lead the county, lead the state and lead this country and we support you," Newton said.

Audrey Nixon (D-North Chicago) also had words of praise for Kyle, "I remember 10 years ago at an organization called the Alabama Club and I had the pleasure of introducing Angelo as the guest speaker. At that time I said this young man is going places. He is intelligent, he's a hard worker and he's going to be a great leader. And you know I am so proud of him," Nixon said.

Kyle was first elected Second Vice President of NACo in an election held in July 2001 at NACo's Annual Meeting in Philadelphia, PA. Second Vice President is the only nationally elected NACo position, and the elected official consequently becomes president after serving in other NACo officer positions in succession.

Kyle is Past President and CEO of the Lake County Urban League, Pastor of Bethesda Baptist Church, President and CEO of TempTech Professional Services and Office Operation Supervisor for State of Illinois Secretary of State's Office.

According to information on the NACo Web site, NACo is the only national organization that represents county governments in the United States, and continues to follow the traditions established by those early county officials. With its headquarters on Capitol Hill, NACo is a full-service organization that provides an extensive line of services including legislative, research, technical, and public affairs assistance, as well as enterprise services to its members. The association acts as a liaison with other levels of government and works to improve public understanding of counties.

Higher learning matchless in county

Besides a well represented field of traditional two and four-year institutions of high learning, Lake County literally is swimming in college and university degree programs now that the University Center of Lake County (UCLC) is hitting its stride.

No less than 16 member institutions are offering a variety of baccalaureate degrees, completion, graduate and advanced professional development programs under a unique arrangement that allows students to take advantage of world class educational opportunities while living at home or following full or part-time employment.

UCLC is operating now out of temporary quarters at Lincolnshire and downtown Waukegan while a permanent home is being built adjacent to the College of Lake County Grayslake campus. Courses are being provided at a range of sites until the permanent home is ready for opening a year from now.

Twelve months from now, UCLC will bring together a variety of resources and teaching facilities such as traditional classrooms, online courses available on the Internet, interactive video courses bringing together students and faculty from two or more sites. There will be correspondence courses and video courses available at the central campus or at home.

UCLC will be going into the 2004 fall academic season with the following participating schools—Chicago School of Professional Psychology, Concordia University, DePaul University, Dominican University, Governors State University, Illinois State University, Kendall College, North Park University, Northeastern Illinois University, Northern Illinois University, Roosevelt University, Saint Xavier University, Southern Illinois University Carbondale, University of Illinois at Chicago, University of Illinois at Springfield and the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

The center works closely with CLC to make it easy for first-time students to transfer to UCLC.

UCLC isn't much different than "away" schools in the student support services available such as pre-admission advising, transfer information, financial aid, veterans benefits and computer access. The completed school will include 27 classrooms and computer labs, a library, a café, administrative and faculty offices and conference space. UCLC is "all business." Campus social life will be up to individuals. Don't look for sports teams or a mascot. Tuition costs are based on rates maintained by participating schools. The center operates under a governing board of 11 citizens.

Lake County is one of a handful of sites around the nation where the "multi-versity" concept is employed. Both variety and quality of offerings matches well with anywhere else in the U.S. In Lake County, higher education truly is on a high.

Social Security— Keep hands off of it

So far, the presidential political campaign has been dominated by issues relating to the Iraq war. The war is no doubt the overriding issue of our times, but there are other very important matters that should be given full discussion during an election campaign.

Besides the economy and healthcare, we haven't heard much about Social Security. What is happening to Social Security and how that will affect the future of the system should be high on the minds of the American public.

You will remember when during the 2000 presidential campaign, Al Gore, the Democrat candidate, said that the Social Security fund should be secured in a "safety lock box," not to be raided for other governmental purposes. As a candidate, President George W. Bush agreed in principle with the policy to preserve the integrity of the Social Security fund.

What followed was an example

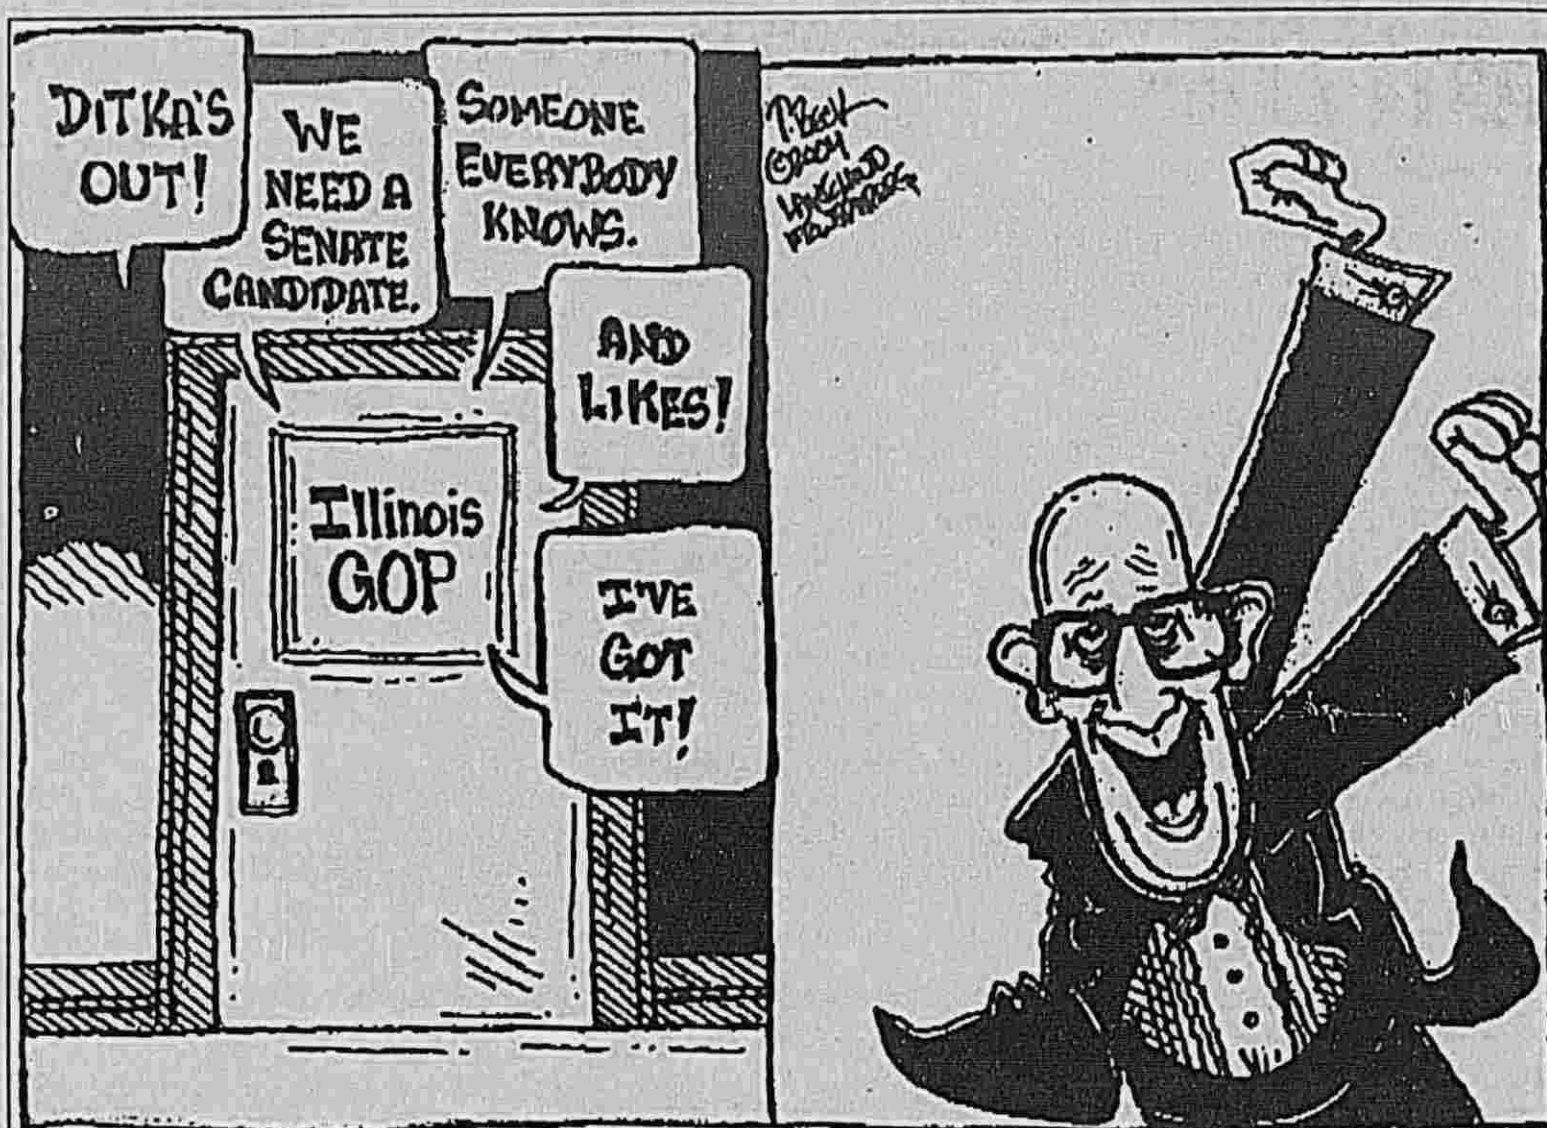

SEEING IT THROUGH

of how politicians, when they run for office, say and promise one thing, but the opposite once they take public office. The public should hold them to be more accountable. It is unfortunate that too many politicians follow the "Parkinson Law of Politics," that "if there is money around, find a way to spend it."

That's what is happening with the Social Security fund. For three successive budget years, President Bush has dipped into Social Security surpluses to fund ordinary government. In total, $480 billion dollars, or about $160 billion dol-

VIEWPOINT

Harry Potter Jr. — molded for success

Somewhere in the Land of Lincoln, there's a candidate who meets the stiff requirements to represent Illinois in the U.S. Senate. The Democrats think they've got the model candidate in Barack Obama, who's already transcended to the national stage before getting a single vote in the general election. The Republicans are finding the candidate selection process a struggle. We think we know the reasons why.

The GOP doesn't understand how the rules have changed. In the old days, the candidate—man or woman—sought the job. The way the game is played in 2004, the job seeks the candidate. Big difference. All the vetting and sweating going on now for many weeks is part of the process of finding the candidate who fits the modern mold.

That's why Mike Ditka quickly fell by the wayside. For all his admirable qualities, Iron Mike just didn't measure up. Illinois can't just ship anybody off to join the most "Exclusive Club in the World." We've got to have style, grace, super intellect and the moral character of a saint to be worthy of the title "Senator from Illinois." Ahem!

Just what does it take to meet the demands of party professionals hungry for a winner, the ravenous appetite of the mainstream media seeking a senator who will stand tall in a chamber of political redwoods unfettered by scandal, and the willy-nilly standards of an ever shifting electorate more interested in celebrity than the elusive qualities of leadership.

First of all, the potential winner has to be good-looking. Pearly-white teeth. Curly hair. Or no hair. The future winner has to have a smile that will turn women to mush and make manly-men race home to the mirror to practice their charm. The Illinois U.S. Senate aspirant has to be born of middle class parents, preferably a father who works in an auto factory or drives a truck and a mom who is a school teacher. The future political whiz would be the class smartie, but brainy enough not to attract the attention of the class bully. If targeted as "teacher's pet," the solon of the future is nimble enough to employ the necessary glibness to negotiate a detente with the class tough guy that will ward off bodily harm, but at the same time provide the stamp of leadership potential. The future candidate will be bookish and smart as a whip, but will have played enough soccer or lacrosse to head off the label of being the class nerd. A crowning teenage achievement would be giving ROTC a neat dust up in debate club.

BILL SCHROEDER

Are you beginning to get the picture of the perfect candidate for the U.S. Senate? After translating an eye-popping SAT score into a high school (preferably public, but easily downplayed if private or prep school) academic record that attracts scads of college scholarship offers, the future man of the hour trundles off to one of the Ivies or a liberal campus guaranteeing entry to Georgetown Law, Harvard or Oxford. Or all three, if the anointed one moves fast enough.

With a law degree, or an MBA in business from one of the major east coast seats of higher learning, it's an easy step to a congressional staff position or a junior position in a blue ribbon New York investment banking firm. As a Beltway fledgling, the future Illinois leader makes sure his boss is the ranking member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The closeness to power earns a boat-load of political capital and know-how. In the financial world, the pre-prime time politico earns a boat-load of bucks, enough to attain certified millionaire status before age 25. Certainly enough personal wealth to do whatever he wants, like helping inner city youth graduate from high school.

Next comes marriage. And a baby carriage. The enterprising political wannabee selects a life's partner with Hollywood starlet good looks and a mixed-race background. The kids are born employing the latest fertilization techniques or adopted, preferably from various sources resembling the United Nations. Husband and wife are devoted partners, centering their public life on high profile charities and Habitat for Humanity.

Their private life, well, is private. With the diverse offspring ready for the campaign trail, the statesman-in-making is ready to announce for public office with unreserved family support. Media mavens are enamored by the model political and All-American family. His credentials aren't hurt at all by the fact that during his youth he did a stint as a Chicago Tribune copy boy or Senate page. The future candidate outsmarted (once again) classmates who ridiculed him for taking a job that paid peanuts. He knows the intricacies of wending his way through the media thicket. More importantly, they know him, especially that his grandparents were immigrants who lived over the family store until they could afford a move moving to the burbs. Most helpful in the family background is a great-great aunt who survived Holocaust horrors and an uncle four of five generations back who helped put the run on Custer's killers at Little Big Horn.

What's not to like about this endlessly perfect, Harry Potter-like creature. He's one of us. More important, he is us, a product of what's best about America. Moreover, he's schooled in policies and issues. And most important, he reads Congressional Record, not Playboy. Keyhole peepers have vouched for the fact that he's never rented a kinky CD for after dark entertainment in the sanctity of the master bedroom or acts improperly at private parties.

There you have it. The job waits. Now go out and find the candidate who's man enough (oops, or woman enough) to fill it.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Assembly views Republican 'peace'

For the time being, there is peace in Republican ranks with the conservative Republican Assembly of Lake County (RALC) supporting new county GOP chairman, State Rep. JoAnn Osmond (R-Antioch).

Assembly members settled for Osmond's leadership after their first choice, Lake Villa Township Supervisor Dan Venturi declined on the grounds that he had just taken over as Lake Villa Township GOP chairman. In their latest newsletter to members, the militant GOP wing left no doubt that Osmond was a second—or third choice. Their main objective of getting rid of Tom Adams was achieved, the newsletter described in detail.

Besides challenging Lake County GOP leadership, RALC is pushing membership services such as offering what they call "Lake County's Only Complete Calendar of Events for All Republicans," a direct slap at meeting information from the Republican Central Committee disseminated in the Lake County Republican Federation newsletter. The expanded calendar includes party events from neighboring counties. The RALC was prominently represented at the state convention in downstate Collinsville.

The RALC, which holds monthly meetings with speakers, is led by Raymond S. True of Libertyville, a retired military officer.

Mayor unhappy

Kildeer Mayor Al Stefaniak is not reluctant to express his displeasure with officials of Ela Township for stopping fund support for Omni Youth Services, which provides counseling, recreation and other activities for young people in southwest Lake County. Stefaniak said Kildeer will continue to back Omni with funding and space at the village hall. Stefaniak said Ela officials acted contrary to villages in the area.

Rudny presenting

Gurnee Mayor Don Rudny will be presenting Sailor of the Quarter awards Tuesday, July 27, at an honors luncheon at Port of Call, the officers club at Naval Station Great Lakes. The awards honor non-commissioned personnel nominated from various commands. Honorees receive a replica of the famous Lone Sailor statue from the Lake County Council of U.S. Navy League and other gifts.

Another spy question

Lee Goodman, Democratic nominee for Congress from the 10th District, is the latest member of his party to raise questions about spying as a GOP policy. Goodman charged that his opponent, incumbent Congressman Mark Kirk, was an employee of the Central Intelligence Agency, a breach

Rudny: To honor sailors at Great Lakes awards event

Perry: Lessons of business working well in local of ethics. Kirk reportedly told news media that he formerly worked for the CIA. Kirk has not responded to Goodman's call that he resign. Lauren Beth Gash, a Democratic organizer and former state representative of North Shore communities, recently charged that Republican spies were infiltrating Democratic meetings. Lake County politics is beginning to sound like a James Bond movie.

Business-like

Grayslake Mayor Tim Perry is convinced that a business-like approach in managing finances of the village is paying dividends with continued cuts in the operating budget. Underpinning a conservative philosophy is a three-point approach: long range financial forecasting, pay as you go policy and use of private contractors vs. adding to public payrolls. The village projects a surplus in excess of a half million dollars for the 2004-05 fiscal year on revenues of $13.2 million.

For dog lovers

Republicans are employing a full-court press to keep the campaign rolling for Dana Sabonjian to recapture the County Recorder's office, only county-wide office held by the Democrats. Sunday, July 25, Sabonjian is inviting dog lovers of all breeds to a K-9 Carnival dog show and political rally from noon to 4 p.m. at Old School Forest Preserve, St. Mary's Rd., Libertyville. Humanoids have to pay admission, but canines will be admitted free for activities: like herding, agility, fly-ball and police dog demonstrations. Sabonjian's three rescue spaniels have been in training as hosts. Brace yourself: Dana says, "We'll have a howling good time."

You be the judge

Both major political parties will have booths at the Lake County Fair beginning Tuesday, July 27, and running through Sunday, Aug. 1. Compare and find out which party is showing the most spirit. Candidates will be out to meet voters face to face.

try to feebly balance the federal budget on the backs of senior citizen retirees.

We know that President Bush has been in the forefront for years to change the Social Security by a great reliance on privatizing the system. How dare him and others to spew the rhetoric of the failings of Social Security when he and others are guilty of misappropriating funds intended to benefit retirees.

Social Security should not only be discussed in this presidential campaign, a large part of that discussion should be how politicians have caused many of the problems associated with the system. If they "keep their hands out of the till," it may surprise everybody and be successful. America's senior citizens who rely on the benefits of the system to make their lives secure should be guaranteed that the funds in that system are secure too.

To all of those candidates who stand for election and preach that they are 100 percent supportive of senior citizen, it is time for them to show that they intend to back up those words.

KEEP ALL OF SOCIAL SECURITY FUNDS FOR SOCIAL SECURITY.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Backing Osmond

I read your interesting "Viewpoint" column in the July 2 edition and I am certainly not at odds with Representative Osmond who is the new Lake County Republican chairman, but I did want to correct some points in the column.

I was elected Lake County Republican chairman in April of 2002 (I held the office for one, two-year term not four years). I was very much asked to run back in 2002 and was challenged in that election and won by 2/3 of the vote. Many townships voted 100 percent for me.

My first order of business was to conduct a very substantial organizational review of our party structure in Lake County and the end result was changes in our general strategy and also realignment of our committee structure. My executive committee, made up of the 18 township chairman plus five officers that I appointed worked very closely with me over my two-year term and particularly in rebuilding our committeeman structure and also working for Republican candidates in the 2002 General Election.

The 2002 general election was difficult for Illinois, particularly with the problems related to the George Ryan regime. Also, the 2002 Primary (which took place before I became chairman) was contentious and tended to split our Party here in Lake County and statewide. Jim Ryan won that race over a number of candidates including our own Lake County candidate Lt. Governor Corinne Wood. I lead our party through the general election process and I'm proud that Lake County turned a majority vote for Jim Ryan, Joe Burkett (attorney general) and Judy Barr Topinka. The rest of the State of Illinois overall did not.

Your opinion column seems to imply that our party was leaderless over the past two years and in reality we established new levels of cooperation at the Executive Committee and also expanded our committeeman ranks. Representative Osmond's quoted comments seem to imply otherwise. I certainly would have welcomed JoAnn's help over the past two years and as I took office as Chairman she did assist me and had been working part-time at our Republican headquarters. As such, I'm a little surprised at her comments.

Keep in mind that right after the November 2002 election we had a real tragedy occur with the sudden death of Representative Tim Osmond in December, 2002. I had worked with Tim and he was a wonderful man and a great legislator. As County chairman, I was responsible for providing the leadership that goes into play whenever there is a vacancy in a State Legislative office. Two three person Committees (one person being the County Chairman) are elected at each Republican County Convention and called into action to appoint a replacement when a vacancy occurs. One was for the unexpired term of Representative Tim Osmond and the other for the new term that would have begun in January of 2003. I immediately sent notice to the Township chairs in the Representative District involved and had responses from several individuals who expressed interest in being appointed. However, I felt that JoAnn Osmond was the ideal person and talked with her about her interest. Accordingly, I called meetings of the two committees and we ended up appointing JoAnn with a unanimous consent of the committees. I stood next to JoAnn at her swearing in and continue to feel that I certainly made the right decision. My friend State Senator Geo-Karis called me and congratulated me on taking swift and decisive action to fill this State Representative Office vacancy. I wish JoAnn success in her first election to the Office this November and would certainly help her in any way.

Now, I very much support Representative Osmond in her office as Republican chairman and offered my help to her and hope that she will call me. I want to clarify one somewhat glaring error in your reporting of the 2004 Republican Convention. I had met with JoAnn a month or so prior to the Convention and we had also spoken several times about problems with a conservative group that was at odds with her and other legislators and with the Central Committee. In any event, my last meeting with her revolved around whether or not I was going to run for County Chairman for a second term. I told JoAnn that since no one had surfaced as a possible candidate that I felt obligated to seek a second term even though I had many other commitments. We left that meeting with that general understanding.

About a week prior to the Convention, JoAnn called me and informed me that she was thinking of running and I suggested that the two of us meet on this, which we did. I felt that even with her running and the possibility that one other person from the conservative ranks running that I would win the election. I had continued solid support.

As it turned out, I made a decision several days before the Convention not to seek a second term primarily because I felt that there now was a viable replacement for me as chairman. I told no one about this except my family. I presided at the Convention up through the Chairman election and as we approached the election process I announced to the Central Committee that I was not seeking a second term and recounted the meeting that I had had with JoAnn and that I was now comfortable with good people running for the office. This came as a great surprise and I know that Townships like Grant and others would have been 100 percent behind me. As we started the election process JoAnn's only opponent in the race, Guy Garrison from Zion Township withdrew his candidacy. Your Opinion Column indicates that JoAnn won the race over me and that, of course is not correct. I was not a candidate for the office. What the outcome would have been if I had sought a second term nobody really knows but many feel that I would have been Chairman for another two years if I had run.

I don't want to imply that I am at odds with Chairman Osmond. I expressed my pleasure in having her as Lake County's first Republican Chairwoman and extended my hand of support for her. I know she has been very involved in General Assembly this year and hopefully will be able to devote the enormous time needed to continue good leadership for our Party. I'm sure she will and I continue to offer my support. JoAnn, give me a call and I will be happy to help.

Remembers priorities

Governor Blagojevich continues to claim that the members of the legislature "favor" cuts for health care, education and public safety because they will not support his budget. This is not true. I, as well as many others, will only support a budget that provides additional funds for those crucial priorities.

At the same time, we must recognize that Illinois faces a $2.3 billion budget deficit, on top of which the governor is asking for $750 million in new spending. His plan for closing the deficit and financing additional spending requires tax increases and billions in more borrowing that the state simply cannot afford.

Take a hike

I agree with former Zion Mayor Chuck Paxton on the County Building parking issue.

The 30 to 50 spaces remaining should be available for the public's use without delay. County taxpayers had the convenience of paying for the garage the least they should have is partial access and use of it. Closing it because of terrorist concerns (in Lake County!) is so farfetched it's preposterous.

County Administrator Barry Burton says he plans to review the public use under a pay-to-park scheme. How many times does the taxpayer need to be hit up for this facility? I hope his words 'plan' and 'review' do not belie bureaucratic speak for a dragged out or tabled response.

Furthermore, taxpayers are the customer being served here. Why can't county employees be the ones to use the soon-to-be parking near the Genesee Theatre? It is definitely a healthier walk for the county's able staff. At many businesses it is a common practice to give the customer (and those disabled) the prime spots nearby while employees park at the back of the lot. Do the county's customers deserve no less?

lars a year, which should have been saved to pay for future social security benefits, was diverted to finance services of the government. Raiding the social security fund in that manner was an attempt to mask the enormity of the federal budget, the largest in history.

Although President Bush must shoulder the major blame because he is the chief executive officer of the administration and he went back on his word, there is enough bipartisan blame to share for the constant raiding of funds that rightfully belong to America's retirees. All of the appropriations to divert the funds had to be approved by Congress, so blame rests with many of them, too.

It bothers me most that when the issue of the future of the Social Security system is raised, the same politicians who will denounce it as a failure waiting to happen are the ones who have dipped into the system for other purposes. It is just not right to

This kid takes being snotty to a new level

Hi Dr. Singer,

I have seen you write about everything from kids having fun with flatulence to snot to belching. My son has a habit that I believe will top everything you have written about and I want to know what to do to stop it. He likes to pick his nose and put it on other kids. Needless to say, he isn't making friends fast and we need to stop this behavior. He is already 8 years old and he is old enough to know better. What can you suggest? S.P.

Hi S.P.,

You are right. That one is right at the top of the list for really bad habits. Never fear. There are always ways to stop any behavior. Obviously, it is better if you come in to talk directly about what appropriate consequences would be for this since a column is not an appropriate place to directly communicate those. First, I would ask you if there are any heavy consequences for when he does this? If this behavior isn't costing him anything, it will not stop. School and home have to have a good, appropriate set of rules and consequences that will make that behavior not profitable anymore. My guess is that he is getting more attention from the behavior than consequences. This is usually why any behavior sticks around.

PARENT'S PLACE

Second, clearly this kid needs attention. Now, we don't want to give attention for the bad stuff, but maybe you can find something he is good at to get attention for that isn't gross. Something that will win him friends instead of lose them for him.

Third, I think this child needs some social skills training. It is possible that he does not know how to react in social situations and when he gets stressed out in a social situation, he reverts to much younger behavior.

Social skills training can happen in an office like mine, but it doesn't have to. You can even work with him yourself on role playing what to do and/or what to say in different social situations.

The combination of all three of those things should help a lot. Again, if you feel that you need to delve more into why this child is doing these things, and you need more than what my column can answer for you, a few sessions of counseling would not hurt. Good luck with whatever you decide to do.

Dr. Singer is a Psychologist who regularly works in person with readers of this column improving kid's attention, behavior, processing and learning skills fast. She has been an ADD Coach to many kids on meds and has also trained the skills of many other labeled kids who are not on medication to take them to attention, behavior and learning heights their parents never dreamed they were capable of. For an appointment call 708-962-2549 or (847) 231-5644. Dr. Singer's office is located in Grayslake.

Carb-watchers can enjoy fresh summer fruits

While some of the most popular new diet plans leave an impression that the produce department should be avoided, eating fresh fruits and vegetables every day is vital to healthy low-carb eating. The truth is, many "low carb" plans allow for the consumption of carbohydrates at some point. Diets such as, "The Carbohydrate Addicts Diet," "Sugar Busters!" and "The Zone" advocate a diet that balances carbohydrates, proteins and fats, rather than eliminating carbs from the diet completely. The "South Beach Diet" actually advocates the consumption of "good carbs" found in fruits and vegetables. And even the strict "Dr. Atkins New Diet Revolution" allows "nutrient rich" carbohydrates back into the diet following the initial two-week induction phase.

For those following any of these diets, fresh summer fruits are most certainly considered nutrient-rich foods. There are many things inside fresh fruits and vegetables that make them highly beneficial. They provide an array of vitamins, potassium and dietary fiber in addition to important phytonutrients that are thought to protect against cancer, heart disease and other diseases associated with aging.

Specifically, fresh peaches, plums and nectarines, found in abundant supply throughout the summer, contain the antioxidant, beta carotene, which may protect against cancer, heart disease and other diseases associated with aging. These fruits also have two carotenoids -- lutein and zeaxanthin -- which filter and shield the eye from sunlight, thereby protecting against age-related eye disorders such as macular degeneration and cataracts. Peaches and plums also contain flavonoids, including some of those found in green tea. Current research has shown that flavonoids may protect humans against cancer and heart disease.

You won't get all of this in a carb-free burger.

Another thing to consider when choosing carbohydrates is the Glycemic Index (GI) or Glycemic Load (GL). Low-carb diet proponents often focus heavily on the connection between insulin levels in the blood and how continuous high levels of insulin can contribute to obesity. Because of this theory, low-carb systems often rate foods according to their glycemic index value, which indicates how quickly the carbohydrates in a food affect blood sugar. Meanwhile, glycemic load takes into account a food's glycemic index along with its carbohydrate content in a given serving size, providing an estimate of the quality and quantity of carbohydrate eaten.

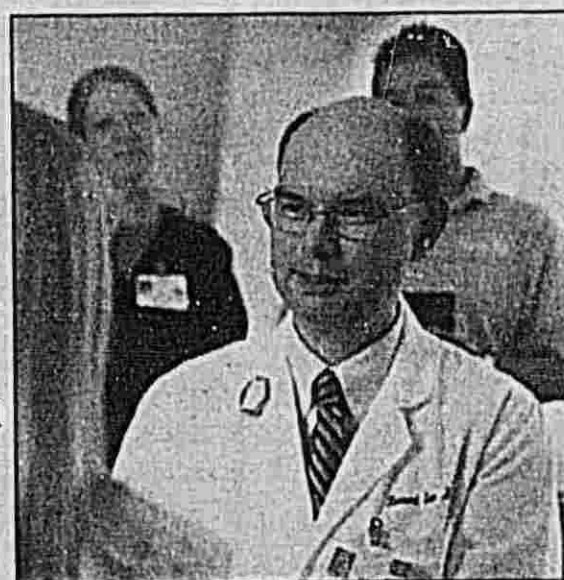

Either way you slice it, fruits like peaches, plums and nectarines all have low glycemic index and low glycemic load values. According to the "New Glucose Revolution, Complete Guide to Glycemic Index Values," fresh peaches on average have a GI of 42, which is considered low, while plums have a GI of 39. They also have a Glycemic Load of about 7, which is also low. As for carbohydrate content, one medium peach or nectarine contains 16 grams of net carbohydrates and two plums contain 19 net carbs. Peaches, plums and nectarines are also low in calories — 70 for a peach or nectarine and 80 for two plums.

For those who choose low-carb diets, fresh fruits and vegetables should not be eliminated from everyday life. Simply try to select fruits and vegetables that contain low to moderate amounts of carbohydrates, or are low on the GL and GI scales.

The carbohydrates found in fruit such as peaches, plums and nectarines are truly quality carbs. These fruits are plentiful during the summer and they are perfect eaten out-of-hand as a simple dessert or snack any time. They also lend themselves well to recipes that focus on fresh, healthy, low-calorie eating. For example, fresh peaches, plums or nectarines can be added to a green salad to add some zing. They can be blended with fat-free, or low-carb yogurt for a great smoothie. Or try them grilled on the barbecue as a side dish to meats or as a luscious and satisfying dessert.

The laboratory at Lake Forest Hospital receives accreditation

The laboratory at Lake Forest Hospital, Lake Forest, Ill., has been awarded an accreditation by the Commission on Laboratory Accreditation of the College of American Pathologists (CAP), based on the results of a recent on-site inspection.

The laboratory's director was advised of this national recognition and congratulated for the "excellence of the services being provided." The laboratory at Lake Forest Hospital is one of the more than 6,000 CAP-accredited laboratories nationwide.

The CAP Laboratory Accreditation Program, begun in the early 1960s, is recognized by the federal government as being equal to or more stringent than the government's own inspection program.

During the CAP accreditation process, inspectors examine the laboratory's records and quality control of procedures for the preceding two years. CAP inspectors also examine the entire staff's qualifications, the laboratory's equipment, facilities, safety program and record, as well as the overall management of the laboratory. This stringent inspection program is designed to specifically ensure the highest standard of care for the laboratory's patients.

The College of American Pathologists is a medical society serving nearly 16,000 physician members and the laboratory community throughout the world. It is the world's largest association composed exclusively of pathologists and is widely considered the leader in laboratory quality assurance. The CAP is an advocate for high-quality and cost-effective medical care.

Student-Athlete Leadership Workshop

The North Suburban Conference has announced its 5th annual Student-Athlete Leadership Workshop. The conference will be held on Sunday, Aug. 15 from 8 a.m.-4:15 p.m. at Stevenson High School.

The workshop will feature the nationally known educator and motivations speaker, Michael Brandwein. He will lead the conference, along with 700 student-athletes, coaches and administrators. The workshop features a blend of large group follow-up sessions led by coaches and student facilitators.

The North Suburban Conference administrators have initiated the workshop in an effort to help student-athletes understand the concepts of leadership. If we expect these student-athletes to lead, we must offer them learning experiences demonstrating the characteristics of leadership. Some of the key components emphasized this year will be sportsmanship, courage to take risks, willingness to go beyond the call of duty, teamwork and decision making.

For more information about this workshop, contact Stevenson Athletic Director John Martin at 847-634-4000 x. 210.

A perfect season

Not pictured were Billy Yeo and Jake Pelli.

Grayslake U-11 team wins title

The Grayslake 11 year-old National All Star Little League team earned the 2004 Illinois District 16 championship on July 17. This is only the second time in the Grayslake Youth Baseball Association's history that a Grayslake team has won the district championship.

Head coach Mark Staszczak said: "I'm very proud of our boys for the hard work, focus, professionalism and exceptional effort they displayed during this tournament. Every player contributed in one way or another. As young men, they represented Grayslake and GYBA honorably."

The District 16 Little League playoffs were held in Antioch from July 6-17. District 16 includes Antioch, Grant, Palatine, Libertyville American, Libertyville National, Mundelein American, Mundelein National, Grayslake American and Grayslake National.

Grayslake National was the only undefeated team going into Saturday's game. They only had to win one more game to clinch the title in the double elimination tournament. However, it took Grayslake National two games to defeat the strong hitting and fast pitching Mundelein National team.

The team lost game one to Mundelein 4-2. Austin Miller took the loss, giving up four runs on six hits and three walks over six innings with four strikeouts.

Eric Horan (hit), Derek Idstein (2 walks, RBI), Zach Peregrin (walk, run, RBI), John Romanski (hit, run) and Adam Thomas (hit) were the only highlights at the plate for Grayslake, which stranded 11 runners in the game, including a bases loaded situation in the 6th inning.

However, Grayslake's bats showed up for in the next game, a 7-3 win over Mundelein.

The offense gave pitcher Kevin Staszczak plenty of cushion to seal the victory and a championship win. Every player contributed either offensively or defensively in this team achievement.

Key clutch hits by Colin Chatten, Eric Horan, Austin Miller, John Romanski, Michael Sledz and Kevin Staszczak made the difference. Defensive plays by Andrew Formica, Michael Gruzalski, Derek Idstein, Zach Peregrin, Kyle Shepard and Adam Thomas simply frustrated the relentless Mundelein attack.

After finishing in second place the last two years, 2004 has proven to be Grayslake's year.

As 9 year olds, Grayslake lost to Libertyville and as 10 year olds, Grayslake lost to Mundelein. Winning the championship this year is quite an accomplishment.

The Grayslake 11 year old National All Stars now advance to the State Sectionals in Bartlett. The first game is Saturday, July 24 at 1 p.m.

Former mayor wants Lake County Courthouse parking garage open

By JEFF ZACHARY
jzachary@lakelandmedia.com

Former Zion Mayor Chuck Paxton expressed what a lot of people have been saying for years and that is that it's time to reopen the County parking garage to the public.

"I can recall sloshing through the snow on a very cold morning to attend your last installation of board members. It's a vivid memory because I walked from Grand Avenue to get here and it was very cold. It was the closest parking spot I could find and I've been to the court house several times since then and have never been able to find a parking spot closer," Paxton said. "Each trip I become less and less happy that the citizens of Lake County are denied their right to use their own parking garage while employees and officials are parking their car and going to their offices."

Paxton added that when the parking garage was being built that there was an opposition group who said the garage would be for employees only and "Lo and behold many years later it is," Paxton said.

"The 9/11 excuse for not allowing the public to use its garage lacks validity at this time...The public has been barred from the use of this garage for almost three years now (34 months)," Paxton said.

Paxton then urged all board members to refuse to use their reserved parking spaces for a month to show their support for an open parking garage.

Lake County Board Chairman replied to Paxton's comments at the county board meeting.

"We have been working on this problem for actually over a year now and my intention was to have the parking garage opened last December but it was easier said than done," Schmidt said.

"The garage will be open in the next few months," Schmidt said.

Join the Century Club

Businesses and other organizations that turn at least 100 this year are eligible to apply for the Centennial Awards program of the Illinois State Historical Society.

Each year the Society honors those companies and enterprises that have operated continuously for a century or more in Illinois, enriching the state's economic heritage. Since the program began in 1984, it has honored nearly 1,100 businesses.

Eligible organizations should contact the Illinois State Historical Society, 210 S. 6th St., Suite 200, Springfield, IL 62701 for an application form. Forms are also available online at www.historyillinois.org. A minimal amount of documentation and a small filing fee are required. The deadline for submitting applications is July 31. For more information, applications may contact the society at 217-525-2781 or ishs@eosinc.com.

County Democratic Central Committee

Senator Terry Link, chairman of the Lake County Democratic Central Committee announces the grand opening of the Lake County Democratic Coordinated Campaign headquarters located at 511 S. Green Bay Rd., Waukegan. An open house will be held on Saturday, July 24 from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited to come and meet some of the candidates.

The headquarters will handle the campaigns in Lake County for John Kerry and John Edwards, Barack Obama for U.S. Senator, Melissa Bean for Representative in the 8th Congressional District and Lee Goodman for Representative in the 10th Congressional District. All County wide candidates for office and the County Board candidates will also be handled from this office.

For further information call 1-847-623-4656.

Caregivers book of memories

Caregivers can learn how to work with their loved ones to create "Life Story Books," books of memories based on positive experiences, at the next Caregiver Information and Support Meeting offered by the Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center. "The Life Story Book" will be presented by Mary Ellen Kelly, Director of Operations for Harbor Senior Concepts. The meeting will be at Warren Township Senior Center, 17801 W. Washington St., Gurnee, on July 28, from 1:30-3:30 p.m. Call 847-377-8097 for details.

Kirk is guest speaker

Congressman Mark Kirk will be the guest speaker at the July 29 luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club of Waukegan. Congressman Kirk represents the 10th Congressional District of Illinois. The Rotary Club of Waukegan meets every Thursday at noon at the Saddle Ridge Restaurant in the Ramada Inn of Waukegan. Admission to this luncheon is open to Rotarians and their families and by invitation. For additional information contact Alicia Mentell, president at 847-360-4723 or Al Oller at 847-599-8400.

Construction zones limits enforced

The Sheriff's Office Traffic Enforcement Division is currently enforcing work zones on Rollins Road between Route 45 and Route 83 and on Wilson Road between Route 59 and Route 134. Deputies have also been patrolling the areas of Route 21 just south of Route 120 and on Route 120 just underneath the Route 21 overpass.

County filing waiver program

Lake County Clerk Willard Helander announced political committees filing their campaign disclosure reports electronically may now be viewed at the Lake County Clerk's office, or online at www.elections.state.il.us/CDS/Pages/Waiver.htm. Any political committee already filing electronically will no longer be required to submit paper copies of electronically filed documents to the Lake County Clerk. The waiver of filing paper records relieves participating counties of most of the requirement to receive and maintain copies of reports from political committees. This reduces staff time and storage requirements, permitting better service in other county clerk duties.

PRIME BEEF
FRESH FISH

What is Prime Beef?

Beef is graded based on several factors including marbling, age, color, texture and firmness. Prime is the top quality possible and represents only about 2% of the beef that is graded. It has the most marbling, which makes it the most flavorful and tender.

Marbling is the network of fat that runs through a cut of meat. The best marbling is distributed through the meat with the fineness of a cobweb. It blends into the meat as it is cooked. The silky, tiny threads in the best Prime meat produce juicy, tender results.

Prime beef is only available in finer restaurants and specialty meat shops because it is produced in very limited quantities.

One of county's oldest farms to be auctioned

By CORINNE REYNOLDS
creynolds@lakelandmedia.com

The Titus family farm, located on Peterson Road just west of Route 45 in unincorporated Freemont Township, will soon be one for the history books. Members of the family that has owned farm, one of the oldest operating family farms in Lake County, for 127 years are selling the land, and an auction will be held on July 29.

Customers, however, can still buy the sweet corn for which the farm is famous, throughout the summer months, according to Steven Good, CEO of Sheldon Good & Company Auctions, which is handling the sale of the land.

The five Tituses who own the land, including Anthony Titus who does much of the farming, are not commenting on their decision to sell.

"They didn't want to continue operating it as a farm," Good said. "The entire area is an enormous area of development and they thought it was right time."

The villages of Libertyville and Grayslake, both of which border the land, have expressed interest in annexing the land.

The village of Libertyville would like to extend its adjacent office and light industrial development into the farm property.

"The Titus farm is a priority for annexation to the village," said John Spode of Libertyville Community Development.

"We would welcome the opportunity to extend an offer to the individual owner," he said.

The land had been divided into three parcels of 135, 17 and 7 acres. These are based on proposed road construction projects that will eventually impact the land, Good said.

One is the proposed extension of Route 53 from Lake Cook Road to Route 120, and the other is a ramp slated for Peterson Road at Route 83, which would take a portion of the property at its southwest corner.

More immediate, perhaps is the proposed extension of Midlothian Road from Peterson Road to Harris Road.

Each of these proposals would make the land more desirable from a development standpoint, Good said.

The three parcels could just as likely go to three separate developers as to the same one. "It's like watching a horse race," Good said, of the auction, noting it's difficult to predict how it could turn out.

The land is nearby two new Metra stations, the new Prairie Crossing station in Libertyville on the Metra's North Central line, and the other station also known as Prairie Crossing which is on the Milwaukee North line.

The sale of the property will also include eight farm buildings, such as the mid-19th century farm house, a brick smokehouse, original milk house and a windmill tower.

For more information on the auction, contact Sheldon Good & Company at 312-373-4300 or visit www.sheldongood.com.

and expressed concerns that the County did not have an adequate flood plan for the area.

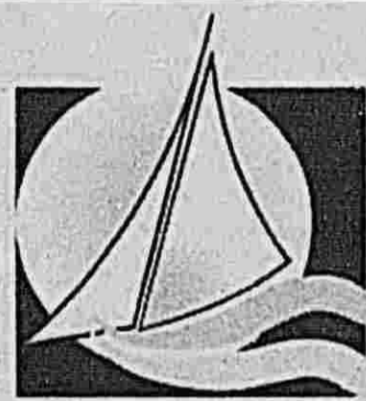

He then requested that the County Board deny the petition to rezone at the request of the villages of Long Grove and Hawthorne Woods.

Despite the request for denial the Lake County Board approved the rezoning by a vote of 21-1.

nized that we are considering running ex ballplayers and coaches. This is wrong. We should never have even considered Mike Ditka. The nomination should go to someone who ran in the primary, and I ran in the primary."

Hill would bring some impressive credentials to the Senate as he has served 23 years in the U.S. Senate.

Local Business Offers FREE SERVICE This springs rainfall has left many residents of Lake & McHenry Counties concerned about the impact wet basements will have, not only on the longer term structural soundness of their homes, but also on the personal health of their families. As most of you already know wet basements are a breeding ground for molds, mildews, bacteria, & fungi.

A national company has offered to assist county residents, which are experiencing musty or mold issues due to damp or flooded basements, by providing a device, which would be placed in their home or basement for 3 days to help kill potentially dangerous molds, mold spores, airborne pathogens & eliminate musty odors. This company has offered to provide this service FREE OF CHARGE through JULY. This will be handled on a 1st come, "1st serve basis". Placements will be handled locally through NaturalAir & Water Systems. You can contact them at 1-847-497-9174 M-F between 8am & 7pm or on the web @ www.naturalairandwater.com to arrange for setup & pickup times & dates. Platinum Member G.M.L.V Chamber of Commerce.

Wadsworth; south line of Cherrywood Ln., approx.
600ft. west of Thorne Meadow Circle

Permanent Index No: 03-21-101-011

This notice is to advise you that the above property has been sold for delinquent taxes and that the period of redemption from the sale will expire on November 29, 2004 as extended.

This notice is also to advise you that a petition has been filed for a tax deed which will transfer title and right to possession of this property if redemption is not made on or before November 29, 2004.

The County of Lake, as Trustee, Purchaser intends to make application for an order on the petition for a tax deed, and this matter is set for hearing in the Circuit Court of this county in Waukegan, Illinois on January 06, 2005.

You may be present at this hearing but your right to redeem will already have expired at that time.

You are urged to redeem immediately to prevent loss of property.

Redemption can be made at any time on or before November 29, 2004 by applying to the County Clerk of Lake County at the County Court House in Waukegan, Illinois.

TO: Smith Henry Hendrix; Land Group; their spouses, heirs, devisees, successors or assigns, if any, persons in occupancy or actual possession and unknown owners or parties interested in the hereinafter described real estate.

Tax Deed No. 01 TX 1 04 TD 165

TAKE NOTICE

County of Lake, Date Premises Sold: December 3, 2001

Permanent Index No: 05-09-200-020

Sold for General Taxes of 2000 and/or prior.

THIS PROPERTY HAS BEEN SOLD FOR DELINQUENT TAXES

Property located at: 908 Lake Shore Dr., Fox Lake; south line of Grand Av., approx. 250 ft. east of the east line of U.S. Route 12

Permanent Index No: 05-09-200-020

This notice is to advise you that the above property has been sold for delinquent taxes and that the period of redemption from the sale will expire on November 29, 2004 as extended.

This notice is also to advise you that a petition has been filed for a tax deed which will transfer title and right to possession of this property if redemption is not made on or before November 29, 2004.

The County of Lake, as Trustee, Purchaser Intends to make application for an order on the petition for a tax deed, and this matter is set for hearing in the Circuit Court of this county in Waukegan, Illinois on January 06, 2005.

You may be present at this hearing but your right to redeem will already have expired at that time.

You are urged to redeem immediately to prevent loss of property.

Redemption can be made at any time on or before November 29, 2004 by applying to the County Clerk of Lake County at the County Court House in Waukegan, Illinois.

For further information contact the County Clerk.

*Platinum Annual Percentage Yield (APY) available on new Platinum One Checking accounts opened at the new Fox Lake location. Platinum One Checking account rate offer applies to new individual accounts only. The APY applies to newly deposited funds from another financial institution. As of 4/1/04 accounts with a minimum balance of $10,000 will earn 3.00% APY and balances of $2500 - $9999 will earn 1.00% APY and are subject to change. Fees may reduce earnings on the account. New accounts over $100,000 subject to approval. Rates are subject to change at any time. Upon qualification. When opened the introductory Annual Percentage Rate (APR) is 0% for the first four months. Beginning in the 5th month the variable APR is as low as Prime +3.99% and is currently 7.99% as of 4/1/04. Applicable rate varies depending on your credit qualifications, from a variable APR of Prime + 3.99% (currently 7.99%) to Prime + 6.99% (currently 10.99%). Interest rates for cash advances are higher. Interest rates may vary quarterly and are indexed to the Prime Rate published in The Wall Street Journal on the third Friday of March, June, September and December. A minimum monthly finance charge will be due if the entire balance is paid within 25 days of the billing date. This credit disclosure is accurate as of 4/1/04, and is subject to change thereafter without notice. Fifth Third and Fifth Third Bank are registered service marks of Fifth Third Bancorp. Member FDIC. Equal Housing Lender.
